MIDNIGHT.

NEW YORK.

A Schooner Seized.

CITY FRAUDS.

Raid on Illicit Distilleries.

AID FOR CHICAGO.

NEW YORK, October 17, 1871.

SCHOONER SEIZED.

A Herald's dispatch from Gloucester, Mass., states that great excitement has existed there for the past few days since the schooner E. A. Horton was taken from the harbor of Guysboro, Nova Scotia, by a party of men who are believed to have been sent for the purpose from Gloucester, and that the vessel is now due at that port. It is now said that a British gun-boat was sent in search of the schooner and had arrived off Cape Ann yesterday, with the intention of recapturing her and taking her back to Nova Scotia. A telegram to the Charlestown navy yard resulted in the sending of an American gun-boat to Gloucester, which, after taking several United States officials and the owners of the schooner on board, started last evening on a cruise to prevent the schooner from being molested in American waters. Several officials and citizens of Gloucester have gone to Boston to interview President Grant upon the subject. The affair is believed to be one of great gravity.

THE CITY FRAUDS.

The Times states that the report of the sub-committee on the city frauds has been finished, and will soon be made public. Their report is said to fasten conviction at last upon the thieves who have robbed the citizens.

The same paper also states that the fact has leaked out that the laborers on the public parks and the boulevards are undergoing a course of military drill for any emergency that may arise in the coming election. The police, however, know nothing of it. A movement is also on foot for a mass meeting of citizens to be held at Cooper Institute, to make arrangements for a general suspension of business for one day, and the parade of a committee of 5,000 citizens, who shall wait upon Mayor Hall and demand proper safe guards for the purity of the election in November.

THE INSURANCE COMPANIES.

The Security Insurance Company of New York suspended, and A. F. Hastings is appointed Receiver. The losses exceed one million and a half.

The Lorillard Company has discontinued business. It will hold a meeting to-morrow to consider the proper course in the new heavy losses.

An injunction was granted in the Supreme Court at the instance of the stockholders of the Excelsior Insurance Company, and M. F. Hodges was appointed Receiver.

Delegates from nearly every State will attend the Insurance Convention to-morrow. Action will doubtless be taken to relieve, in a great measure, the strain upon the companies.

RAID ON ILLICIT DISTILLERIES.

Up to now over three hundred barrels of whisky were seized and carried off and fifteen illicit distilleries broken up in Brooklyn. The revenue officers were supported by eight hundred troops, who were stationed on roofs and other advantageous points to prevent a mob from attacking the officers. There was great excitement, and the raid was not finished before dark.

The property seized in Brooklyn by the revenue officers is valued at from fifty to seventy-five thousand dollars, and included over five hundred barrels of whisky, thirteen stills and two large rectifying establishments.

CHICAGO RELIEF.

The Baltimore subscriptions to date are $197,000; Boston $403,000. Liberal provision is being made for Michigan and Wisconsin. Binghampton, N. Y., $5,000; Cazenovia, $1,100. The officers and employes of the Boston Navy Yard give $3,638.

The Executive Committee of the Chamber of Commerce Relief asked the General Committee for power to use a portion of the donation for the sufferers in Michigan and Wisconsin.

SUDDEN ILLNESS.

Mrs. Seguin, while performing in Parepa's troupe last night, was taken with paroxysms of grief and removed to her hotel in consequence of the announcement that her daughter, Miss Froudsham, was killed at the Chicago fire.

THE FENIANS.

The projected union of the Fenians and Irish Brotherhood yesterday at Jones Wood, took place, but the Head Centres of the organization were not present. The late raid of O'Neill was strongly denounced.

CHARITY.

Private letters from Chicago state that ladies of wealth there are sending what remains of their rich wardrobe and jewelry to New York to be sold to raise money to help the sufferers.

THE TURF.

A match has been arranged between the American Girl and the gelding Judge James Fullerton, for two thousand dollars, in mile heats, at Fleetwook Park within a fortnight.

ROBBERY.

Boerce & Bro.'s lace establishment, in Brooklyn, was robbed last night of one thousand dollars' worth of laces. No arrests yet.

POLITICAL ROW.

James Feeley was fatally injured by Thomas Carey in a political row in the Twenty-second ward last night. Carey was arrested.

THE ZINC WORKS.

The New York Zinc Works, having been injured from using a new patent furnace, will stop work, throwing two hundred workmen out of employment.

A DEN OF THIEVES.

At a Democratic meeting last night Samuel J. Tilden, Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, denounced Tammany as a den of thieves.

ARRIVED.

The steamship Colorado, from Liverpool, has arrived.

The steamer Scotia, from Liverpool, has arrived.

MURDER.

James Snowden murdered Charles Cooley last evening with a razor. Cause, jealousy. Both were colored.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

The Gold Board yesterday elected Wm. A. Gibson President, and W. A. Hoyt Vice President.

REPORT DENIED.

The custom house officials state that there is no truth in the reported resignation or removal of Collector Murphy.

SCANDALOUS TESTIMONY.

Judge Ingraham has ordered the suppression of scandalous testimony in the suit of Stokes vs. Fisk.

AID VOTED.

The Caledonia Club has voted one thousand dollars each to the Chicago and Michigan sufferers.

REFUGEES.

A number of refugee ladies from Chicago are at the Newsboys' Lodging House.

THE ALEXIS BALL.

Two thousand tickets are to be issued for the Alexis ball—price, ten dollars.

THE FIREMEN.

The firemen are forbidden to act as canvassers, clerks, or inspectors of election.

SPECIE SHIPMENT.

The steamer Hamlonia, for Europe, took fifty-three thousand dollars in specie.

APPLICATION GRANTED.

Judge Barnard to-day granted an application for the examination of Ingersoll.

The Schooner Horton.

GLOUCESTER, October 17.—The report of the Canadian cutter in our waters is not confirmed, though the revenue officials believe that the rumor is well founded. Nothing has been heard of the Horton.

CHICAGO.

The Lumber Dealers.

A MURDERER ARRESTED.

Postoffice Removal.

THE BOARD OF TRADE.

Confidence in the Banks.

THE LUMBER DEALERS.

CHICAGO, October 17.—An attempt was made by a number of lumber dealers yesterday to carry up the price of lumber from three to four dollars per thousand, but this was resisted by many of the larger and more respectable dealers, and the attempted extortion was defeated. Lumber is selling at old prices. There are fully two hundred and fifty millions of feet in the yards in this city, and the supply will continue abundant.

MURDERER ARRESTED.

The police have captured the Italian saloon keeper, Gregorio Petrie, who on Monday night of last week, in a saloon on Van Buren street, stabbed a man dead. He was found at the village of Austin, five miles west of this city.

THE VICTIMS.

The total number of dead bodies on which inquests have been held up to last night is ninety-two. Of course, when the debris in the burnt district is removed many more will be discovered.

THE POSTOFFICE.

Arrangements have been made to-day by special arrangement of the Postoffice Department for the removal of the postoffice to the Avenue Church, corner of Wabash avenue and Harrison street, and it will be occupied for that purpose until the Government builds a new and suitable building. The church edifice is on the south line of the burnt district of the south division. It was considerably scorched, but suffered little or no injury inside.

BOARD OF TRADE.

The Directors of the Board of Trade had a meeting this morning for the purpose of settling the question of location. After considerable discussion, it was decided to appoint a Committee on Rooms to select a suitable lot near the old Board of Trade rooms and Chamber of Commerce, and to erect thereon a temporary building for the transaction of their business.

THE CITY QUIET.

General Sheridan to-day issued an address, in which he announces the continued peace and quiet of the city. There has been no case of violence since the disaster on Sunday night and Monday morning.

THE BANKS.

The banks, National and savings, resumed business to-day. The calls from depositors were light for immediate use. Many sought to ascertain their balances, and to what extent they could safely draw hereafter. Many desposits were made. There was no excitement or rush whatever. The drafts on the savings banks were very light, and in many instances deposits were made.

THE CLEARING HOUSE.

There was considerable excitement at the clearing house, and many checks were thrown out.

CONFIDENCE IN THE BANKS.

As an illustration of the confidence the public placed in the banks, we refer to to-day's work at the Third National Bank. Forty-five thousand dollars were checked out and seventy-two thousand dollars deposited. The State Savings Bank prepared for a rush, but only some forty depositors called for money, the aggregate of which was greatly exceeded by deposits.

REBUILDING.

Many contracts for buildings have been consummated to-day. Among those who propose to rebuild at once are Wm. F. Coolbaugh, H. G. Powers, C. T. Whaler, Bown Bros., George Armour, Jno. B. Drake, of Drake's Block, J. C. Walker, Potter Palmer, Mathews, Laflin, C. H. Beckwith, Edwin Hunt, Fred K. Tuttle, Gregstin and Macken, James H. Rees. Tribune Company, etc. The entire block fronting on the Court House square from the east, and running from Randolph to Washington street, will be rebuilt at once, by maps by J. C. Walker, Dr. Fowler, R. E. Goodell, Drs. Charles and John Quinland, and others.

The great Union Depot at the foot of Lake street is to be at once rebuilt, and on a greatly enlarged scale.

LEAVING THE CITY.

The number of passes issued to-day for persons leaving the city was one thousand.

INDIGNATION.

The action of the postoffice authorities in locating the postoffice on the south side, where there is less than one-third of the population of the city, and no gas, has created great surprise and a good deal of indignation, less regard seeming to have been had for the accommodation of the majority of the citizens than should have been.

BURNING WISCONSIN.

Some Further News From the Great Conflagrations in the North-west.

THE FIRES IN DOOR COUNTY.

On Sunday night, about 9 o'clock, the fire broke out in the southern part of the Belgian settlement at Brussels, in Door county, and raged with terrific violence, destroying about one hundred and eighty houses, and leaving nothing of a large and flourishing settlement but five houses. Nine persons are missing—supposed to have perished in the flames. The names are as follows: Mrs. John B. Wendricks and three children, three children of Jos. Dandoy, one child of Jos. Monfils, and a young man by the name of Maurice Belveaux. The remains of some of the clothing of the latter person were found, by which he was identified.

On Monday morning two hundred people breakfasted on four loaves of bread. Houseless and homeless, they camp out on their land, and seem struck dumb with their great losses. Their houses, barns, implements of farming, house furniture and cattle were burned and destroyed. The roads are filled with carcasses of horses, cattle, sheep and hogs, suffocated by the smoke and heat.

Williamson's mill is reported burned, and four persons are said to have lost their lives, one of whom, Hyppoyite Ligot, without doubt.

Our informant reports the most pitiable state of things all through the district devastated by the fire, and hunger and starvation staring the wretched inhabitants in the face.

The inhabitants during the conflagration only saved their lives by throwing themselves on the ground and covering their heads. They had no warning of the approach of the fire, except the ringing of the church bell for a few minutes in advance. Then suddenly a great fire came down on them from the woods, roaring like a cataract, and they had no time to save anything. The heavens were all ablaze, and the earth also seemed on fire.

Williamson's mill, at Sturgeon Bay, was burned. Fifty lives were lost. No particulars.

PESHTIGO, MENOMINEE AND MENEKAUNEE.

The George L. Dunlap just arrived from Escanaba, having been delayed thirty hours by heavy winds and dense smoke. Her passengers bring terrible accounts of the devastation by fire. At Menominee they received accounts of the burning, last night, of nearly the entire village of Menekaunee. At the mouth of the Menominee river, on the Wisconsin side, 150 buildings were burned, including three extensive saw mills owned by McCartney & Hamilton, Spafferd & Gilmore, Spaulding & Porter, the latter being the largest, with one exception, on the bay shore.

The villages of Menominee and Marinette were in great danger, and many of the people fled to the bay shore for safety remaining in the water all night. The steamer Union lying in the river, took about 300 women and children to a place of safety in the harbor. The women and children of Menominee went on board the steamers Favorite and Dunbar, and vessels lying at anchor in the roadstead. The male portion of the population of three villages lying within three miles of each other, spent the whole night in fighting the fire.

No lives are known to be lost, with the exception of one man who died from fright after he had been rescued from the water, and another who was sick in a house which was burned before he could be rescued.

At a small settlement of five or six houses, called Birch Creek, on the State Road, nine miles west of Menominee, every house was burned, and ten or twelve lives lost, only three persons escaping.

At Peshtigo Harbor they were met by a number of persons from the village of Peshtigo, seven miles west, who gave a heartrending account of the total destruction of their town.

During Sunday evening a hurricane of wind from the west sprang up, which fanned the smouldering fires in the timber into a blaze, and drove the flames into the village. It came rushing into the village between nine and ten o'clock. So great was the violence of the wind that in less than one minute after the first house took fire the whole village was in flames. There was no prospect of checking the flames, for the smouldering forest presented one mass of fire. The people could only flee to the river for safety. Those living in close proximity to the water reached it and waded into their necks. Here they remained from two to four hours, and by constant wetting of their heads were enabled to escape with their lives, although many were terribly burned. Those who lived only one or two streets from the river were struck down by the fiery fiend and burned to death. Whole families were thus destroyed. This morning the streets were strewn with burned bodies. In one case eight or nine bodies were found together. One family, consisting of father, mother and three children, were found together with in twenty feet of the stream.

It is impossible, as yet, to form any correct estimate of the loss of life at Peshtigo. Fully seventy are known to have perished by fire and water. Reports are constantly coming in of new cases of destruction of property and life.

In Peshtigo not a single house remains standing.

The immense wooden ware factory and the large saw-mill of the Peshtigo Company, at the village are burned. Stores, dwelling houses, etc., are totally destroyed, not a vestige of property remaining. The people who were saved escaped in a destitute condition, being without clothing or provisions. The names of but few of the lost could be learned. Among those known to have perished are Joseph S. Beebe, book-keeper of the company, wife and two children, and Mr. Thompson, ex press agent.

It is supposed that the inmates of the Company's boarding house, one hundred in number, nearly all perished in the flames. A special messenger was dispatched to the city last evening for supplies for the people of Peshtigo, and the steamer George L. Dunlap left this morning with everything necessary for their sustenance and comfort.

GENERALITIES.

THE poetry and doggerel of Chicago have begun to come in very strong.

THE Baltimore Commercial Convention meant no joke when it declared the income tax to be incomodious.—N. Y. World.

A CONNECTICUT man has Benedict Arnold's singing book, but Benedict has no use for it.

WE would advise our readers to go and see Dan Rice. Napoleon can Sedan rise before his eyes every night.—New York Globe.

AN exchange finds it singular that France, in spite of her terrible sorrows, does not even seem disposed to drop Thiers.

THE man who said that he had poisoned himself with a large dose of Muriatic Halstead, had no reference to the Cincinnati Commercial, but to another acid.

THE New York Standard ungenerously calls Chicago the city of the plain. Any such allusions to Sodom and Gomorrah are regarded as in execrable taste just now.

THE Philadelphia Age heads its account of the Philadelphia election with the words: "The city carried by the Radicals by the aid of the infamous Registry law."

AFTER the great fire in London in 1666, Parliament enacted that every house should be built with party walls, and all in front raised to equal height, and those walls should be of stone or brick, and that no man should delay beyond seven years.

ONE of the most touching inscriptions on record is that on a tombstone of a dead wife in the Duxbury (Mass.) graveyard. It reads: "Chisel can't help her any, and tears is of no use." Could marital grief be more tenderly and pathetically expressed?

BRET HARTE's new volume of poems is about to be published. It includes the celebrated poem delivered before the Phi Beta Kappa Society in Cambridge, which seemed to act as stick to the reputation which the Heathen Chinee rocket had carried aloft.

THE Boston Post declares that "only one wife was beaten to death at Memphis on a recent very quiet day." This is a Yankee lie. Memphis can show, for every day in the year, as many wives beaten to death as Boston, and the Post knows it.—Louisville C. J.

THE Woodhull & Claflin Weekly offers sympathy to Chicago. It also speaks of Karl Marx as, this active friend of freedom. It neglects to condole with similar friends of freedom, who were hanged or stoned to death in Chicago for merely attempting to apply the torch.

THE Louisville Courier Journal says: All the newspapers are still speaking of the "fire-fiend" in connection with the Chicago conflagration. "Fire-fiend" is a first rate word to have about a newspaper office in times like these, but suppose we lay it away now and let it rest awhile.

ON Saturday there is to be the finest production of Italian opera ever attempted in America at the Academy of Music in New York. Il Trovatore is to be produced with the leading roles filled by Parepa Rosa, Wachtel, Gazzaniga and Lawrence, with an orchestra and chorus of over sixty each.

A NEWLY married couple from New York, on their wedding tour, stopped at the Briggs House, Chicago, and when the fire broke out went to look at it. They soon were compelled to return, but found the Briggs House in flames. They lost everything, and have come back to New York entirely destitute.

THE Philadelphia Ledger says: Had the Chicago fire occurred before the era of railways and telegraph it would have been even a much greater calamity, owing to the inability of the people there to make known their sufferings in time to secure prompt relief. It might have added there would have been no Chicago to have a calamity.

THE Boston Journal remarks that "a young lady with golden tresses fainted the other night, and an alarmed friend bathed her forehead with vinegar, and in the most expeditious manner bathed all the golden color out of her friend's front hair." The moral of which is that young ladies when they faint should "bar the vinegar."

SOME workmen, recently arrested for small offences at Peath, Hungary, have been discovered to be members of the International Society. Orders received by them from the Paris Commune were found upon their persons. The documents are said to compromise three members of the extreme left in the French Corps Legislatif.

COUNT BENDEKTTI has published a book entitled "My Mission," in which he declares that the famous secret treaty which Bismarck asserted was proposed by Napoleon in 1867, and out of which the Chancellor made so much capital at the beginning of the late war, was really proposed for the consideration of the French Emperor in 1866 by Bismarck himself.

MR. SEWARD was welcomed at his home in Auburn by a large number of his personal friends and neighbors. In response to a speech he remarked that during his journeyings abroad he had found no nation so distant and no race so low that the character of an American citizen did not secure to himself not merely safety, but also respect, consideration and affection.

AN exchange says: "A negro, whose name was supposed to be George Washington, was run over and killed by a train on the Selma and Meridian railroad, near Meridian, Monday night." We have known that there was a good deal of disloyalty in the South, but surely the poor man was not himself to blame for being named for the father of a partially ungrateful country! And it seems it was a mere supposition after all.

SENATOR SPRAGUE and his brother Amasa Sprage, of Providence, Rhode Island, are erecting in the cemetery of that city a family monumental tombstone at a cost of $100,000. The remains of the deceased members of the family are to be removed to the lot containg the monument. We suppose this piece of ostentation is founded upon the rocks of Spragues, otherwise it could scarcely stand with so little ostensible cause for its existence.

INSTEAD of waiting for a public meeting to be called, Mr. Jos. W. Allen, one of the best men in Nashville, stepped into the Banner office and left one hundred dollars for Chicago. Mr. Allen, in return for his philanthropy, was immediately telegraphed all over the country. In one place he appeared as J. O. S. Wallan, in another as J. O. S. W. Allen, in another as J. O. S. Walling, and finally he turned up in Cincinnati as J. O. A. Adler.

THE Richmond State Journal says: "On Saturday evening a little colored infant, about six weeks old, belonging to a colored woman named Martha Coleman, residing in the rear of a residence on Clay street, between First and Second, met with a horrible death by falling into a kettle of strong lye. The child was sleeping on a pillow on a chair before the fire, and waking up while alone in the room worked itself off the pillow and fell head foremost into a kettle of lye sitting near."

THE Charleston, S. C., Courier of Wednesday says: "We learn that on Saturday, or early Sunday morning, the agent of the Northeastern railroad, W. B. Fidea, at Oakley, (a station about twenty-seven miles from the city,) was murdered. His body was found in the station on Sunday morning. The contents of the depot were apparently undisturbed, but his wife, who was absent at the time of his murder, states that he had been robbed of about $700, supposed to be mostly of his own earnings.

THE German Correspondent says: The construction of two great men-of-war, the Sedan and Metz, will be commenced next spring. Every effort is being made to increase and improve the German navy, as the last war showed how greatly commerce may be injured by an enemy who has the command of the seas, and the Government is desirous of placing the country in a secure position for all eventualities that may arise, even as regards first-class naval powers. The time will probably come when the German colors will be regarded with as much respect on the sea as on the land.

THE New York Evening Post says of the gift of $50,000 to the sufferers by the calamity at Chicago by Mr. A. T. Stewart that "were it not for betraying a confidence, we should add that he took advice whether he should not offer $25,000; desiring earnestly to give four times as much, but fearing it would seem ostentatious, and hoping to make it up some other way; but on being assured that he might, in the emergency, send $50,000 without danger of offence, did so immediately. Merchants who themselves lose largely by this calamity, seem generally to be as prompt as any others to send aid."

IT IS said that there are no Ku Kluxes, yet the Frankfort Yeoman, of Friday, says: "On Friday night last, a party of disguised prowlers posted on the yard gate of Mrs. John W. Russell, of this county, a notice that, if her negro servants and laborers were not dismissed, her premises would be visited with cotton rope and cowhide. Mrs. Russell is a highly estimable widow lady, relict of Captain John Russell, and the ruffians who have visited her premises doubtless take advantage of the fact that her farm is exposed and comparatively without defenders. The same party went to Bridgeport and drank the liquor in the bar room of the town.

A KENTUCKY man who attempted to cross a high railroad bridge at Shepherdsville, in that State, on the 24th ult., stumbled and fell between the ties, but, fortunately, managed to grasp a tie with his hands and there hung dangling, with 100 feet of sheer fall beneath him. He was utterly unable to regain the top of the bridge, and he hung on with a death grasp until his cries brought assistance. Lifted from his perilous position he was led off the bridge, and sat down for a few minutes, apparently overcome by the danger through which he passed. Then he got up, as he said to go home, walked a few steps, and fell to the ground dead. Physicians, who carefully examined his body, say that there was no bruise or wound sufficient to disable him much less cause death, and are of opinion that his death was caused by fright.

A CORRESPONDENT writes the Paducah Kentuckian that "on Saturday night last, about ten o'clock, at Newton's Creek Church, near Woodville, a young man by the name of Robert Nolin was killed by Phil Joiner, a boy about seventeen years old. It appears that no words passed between them. Joiner walked up to Nolin and placed his left arm around his neck. Nolin asked who he was. Joiner replied that his name was Phil Joiner, and at the same time began to use his knife on the person of Nolin. Nolin was dead in three minutes from the time the affray began. A protracted meeting was under progress at the church, which was immediately broken up with very much excitement. Nolin was a quiet, unassuming young man, bearing a good character. The community is excited greatly, and seem to be anxious that the murderer shall be speedily arrested and promptly punished. We learn that Joiner had previously had a difficulty with Nolin's brother, and mistook him for that person when he met him.

NEWARK.

The Botts Trial.

NEWARK, N. J., October 17.—In the trial of George Botts this morning the cross-examination of Mrs. Wilson developed grounds for the defence of the prisoner's irresponsibility at the moment of the tragedy, and that the pistol was discharged accidently in the scuffle. Mrs. Wilson was engaged to marry Botts on obtaining a divorce from her husband, and she told him that Halstead was acting only as her lawyer to get such divorce, that she had lived with Botts as his wife, and he had introduced her to his family as such, that he had supported her, and that she had twice broken the engagement on account of his intemperance. The Court adjourned until to-morrow.

ST. LOUIS.

Destructive Fires.

ST. LOUIS, October 17.—Accounts from Northern Kansas say that destructive fires have been raging in Deer Creek and Harrison Creek valleys, extending to Jefferson county, Nebraska. Cotton Crops.

KU KLUX AFFAIRS.

The Civil Service Commission.

PRESIDENT'S PROCLAMATION.

WASHINGTON, October 17, 1871.

THE COTTON CROP.

The official report of the Agricultural Bureau says the cotton report is unimproved. The average of September is sustained in no State, there being for the first week in October 76, against 80 per cent. in September. Injuries reported are from rust, shedding of bolls, prematurely cool weather in northern latitudes, floods and inundations in Florida and Georgia, and the boll and army worm in a portion of Mississippi and the more western States. The loss by insects is not very serious, the general drouth being the occasion of more depreciation than any other cause. The present indications of the crop do not exceed three million bales, and with unfavorable weather must be smaller.

A PROCLAMATION.

The President's proclamation, issued to-night, recites that:

WHEREAS, The insurgents engaged in unlawful combinations within the counties of Spartansburg, York, Marion, Chester, Laurens, Newberry, Fairchild, Lancaster and Chesterfield, in the State of South Carolina, have not dispersed, in obedience with the proclamation of the 21st instant, and given up their arms, disguises, &c., now, therefore, I, Ulysses S. Grant, President of the United States of America, do hereby declare that in my judgment the public safety especially requires that the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus be suspended in said counties in respect to all persons arrested by the Marshal of the United States for said district, or any of his deputies, or by any military officer of the United States, or by any soldier or citizens acting under their orders.

THE WEATHER.

Probabilities.—A rising barometer with clear and pleasant weather is probable for Wednesday from the lower lakes to Texas and northwestward; cloudy and clearing weather in New England and on the south Atlantic coast; fresh northerly winds on the Gulf coast, light winds on the Atlantic, and fresh westerly winds on the lakes.

THE CHICAGO BANKS.

The following dispatch was received to-day, dated Chicago:

Hon. Geo. S. Boutwell—The Chicago banks are sound, and are paying every dollar on demand. Good feeling prevails.
[Signed.] H. R. HURLBUT,
Comptroller of the Currency.

CIVIL SERVICE.

The Civil Service Commission commenced its sessions to-day. Mr. Medill was absent, owing to the Chicago calamity. Mr. Catteil was detained by business, but will be here in a day or two. The discussion on the opinion of the Attorney General upon questions propounded to him will continue several days.

KU KLUX AFAIRS.

A dispatch from Corinth, Mississippi, reports the arrest of five Ku Klux in Tishomingo county, with complete disguises. It is believed the entire gang will be captured. They shot a white man and woman two weeks ago, injuring both seriously.

VICE CONSULS RECOGNIZED.

The President has recognized James Gray Flowerdew as Vice Consul of Her Britanic Majesty for the city of Portland, Oregon; Andrew W. Briggs, Vice Consul of Denmark, for the State of Missouri; Nillson Vindquiest, Vice Consul of Sweden and Norway at Omaha, Nebraska.

ALBANY.

The Tammany Frauds.

ALBANY, October 17.—Gov. Hoffman this afternoon received in the Executive Chamber the Sub-Committee of Seventy, and gave a hearing concerning the frauds in New York. The committee consisted of Judge Pierrepont, General John A. Dix, Governor E. Salomon, Henry J. Stebbins, John Wheeler, James L. Brown and William C. Barrett.

Judge Pierrepont, Gov. Salomon and Judge Barrett briefly addressed the Governor, reciting that fraud had been committed, and asking him to use his power as Chief Executive to arrest the abuses and protect the State. They further asked that a military force be placed in readiness to quell any riot that may arise.

Gov. Hoffman, in reply to the committee, said: I need not say that anything I can do in the matter will be done. I do not see that Judge Pierrepont asks for anything specific, save for a military force. Complete preparations will be made of that nature. The plundering is stopped for the time being, by the appointment of Green as Deputy Comptroller.

Judge Pierrepont—Yes, but the city's credit is not restored.

Governor Hoffman—I should think your committee would point to me something specific. The Attorney General is present to speak for himself. I am sure that he will do all that lies in his power to aid your committee. Judge Emlott, of your committee, is not present to-day. He stated to me some days since that he thought the Governor had no power in the matter, as to which you have addressed me. I shall ask the Attorney General to take into his course Chas. O'Conner, the acknowledged head of the New York bar. I will use the military in case of a disturbance, and will do my whole duty, as I may further find what it may be.

Judge Barrett asked the Governor if facts were brought to his knowledge going to prove that the next election would not be fairly holden, would he interfere in the interest of a fair election?

The Governor said: It would be time enough to consider that question when facts were presented.

The Attorney General made a few remarks, expressing his willingness to cooperate with the Committee of Seventy in the interest of good government. He stated further that he would write a letter, which they might take with them on their return to New York, requesting Charles O'Connor to act as counsel with him for the State in any action which might be brought in connection with the frauds.

After a little general conversation the interview terminated.

BOSTON.

Trouble Ahead.

BOSTON, October 17.—A special to the Traveller from Gloucester this morning, says Collector Fitz J. Robson has telegraphed for the revenue cutter Hugh McCulloch, of Portland, which will reach this port to-day. The Mahoning has already come and gone outside. This will make a fleet of four vessels in these waters, and any attempt to seize the Horton by English vessels will meet with a successful resistence. The Mahoning is said to have strict orders not to let the Horton be taken.

—Four more deaths from yellow fever were reported at Charleston for Sunday and Monday.

CHICAGO RELIEF FUND.

LONDON, October 17.—The subscriptions to the Chicago Relief Fund received at the Mansion House up to last night amount to twenty thousand six hundred pounds. The Committee of American residents in London, also receiving subscriptions, has made arrangements for the immediate dispatch of money or goods contributed. At a meeting at Bradford, two thousand pounds was received; at Dublin twelve hundred pounds; at Wolverhampton and Glasgow one thousand pounds each.

LONDON, October 17.—The destruction of the city of Chicago is still the all-absorbing topic here. The newspapers continue their call to the people, and it deserves to be said that the people respond gloriously. The Mayor publishes a statement this morning acknowledging the receipt of a multitude of small donations not included in the total already reported. The Mayor appends to the statement an exhortation to continue the subscriptions until the amount devoted to this cause shall be worthy of the emergency which calls and of the great city of London.

This morning the subscriptions in Liverpool reached ten thousand pounds, Leeds four hundred, Cork four hundred, Dublin fifteen hundred, Hanley four hundred. Birmingham has already forwarded its first installment of £2,000, and further contributions are being make.

Relief voting was held at Sheffield to-day, the Mayor presiding, at which £2,000 was collected in a few minutes.

The newspapers comment at length upon the fires in Chicago and in the northwest, and deplore the paucity of details in such cases. The excessive tariff charged by the Atlantic Cable becomes a public misfortune.

Several of the crew were floating on planks, but a boat that was sent out could not secure them, and their fate is not known. The vessel sank between Thunder Bay and Middle Island. The house was brilliantly illuminated, and many buildings also. After a short fest the President and suite proceeded to Senator Hamlin's residence, where they were entertained at a private dinner. Later in the evening the President was serenaded. To-morrow he will be the guest of the city. There will be a celebration in his honor.

CONCORD.

The Liquor Question.

CONCORD, N. H., October 17.—A number of liquor cases came before the Supreme Court, now sitting in this city. This afternoon Hamilton L. Rand's case was under consideration, and the witness declined to testify, saying he was not bound to criminate himself. He was supported by counsel, who argued that he was not compelled to answer, as his testimony might show that by offering compensation for liquor he had induced the commission of crime, and thus become an accomplice, and as such was as liable to punishment as the person selling him liquor. The debate between the counsel and Judge Doe continued over two hours, and the judge's final decision was that the question raised was so important that he should not compel the witness to testify, neither would he commit him for contempt of court, but he suggested that the case be continued and go before a full bench. This was agreed to.

LABOR REFORM.

The Labor Reform State Committee met this evening and passed resolutions to the following effect: that political events show the need of a new party; that the New York Tammany frauds find a parallel in the New York Custom House; that while we do not endorse the record of Butler, we thank him on behalf of the laboring classes for his truthful statement of facts in the late Massachusetts canvass; that we invite the co-operation of all, irrespective of past political belief, to a convention to be held in December.

The occurrence created considerable excitement in Warsaw.

The Masonic fraternity has tendered the railway the use of their banquetting hall for the accommodation of the press that will occur upon the occasion of the approaching celebration.

A Word for the Present.

The Cincinnati Commercial says: There is much said in these days about the degradation of literature; and there is assuredly a degraded literature,—a literature of flippancy and pretence, of false sentimentality and sensationalism, of puriency and immorality. But the best literature of the present age is a better literature than the world ever before had. It is possessed of a higher character and a nobler spirit. There is feeling of generous humanity about the common literature of the present day which that of olden times did not possess. We find in our scientific books a more serious desire for the truth, and a more patient investigation of the facts of nature and life, with less anxiety to establish theories than formerly existed. We find in our historical books a few wiser systems of criticism. We find in our books of theology less prejudical dogmatism. We see in our law books more desire to grasp the principles of justice. In short, take the literature of our age, all in all, and it will be found that it displays a higher respect for reason and morals than the literature of any other age.

A CORRESPONDENT of a German paper, writing from Wilna, gives an account of some very eccentric disturbances which took place near that locality some days ago. An unknown individual for some time went about among the peasantry selling rosary beads, scapulars, and other religious objects. This mysterious person, who was afterwards recognized as a monk that had fled from a monastery in Galicia, for some reason or other, took it into his head to excite the peasantry against the measures taken by the government for the prevention of cholera. He succeeded in spreading among the people the belief that these measures of the authorities had no other object than to poison the peasantry, and thus get rid of them. A body of 300 peasants accordingly assembled, and made an onslaught on the officials engaged in disinfecting and other anti-choleric occupations. Serious excesses would have been the result had not a number of policemen arrived on the spot at the proper moment and arrested thirteen of the rioters—the seller of beads among the rest. To prevent similar occurrences in other places bodies of policemen will scour the country, so as to be on hand in case of need.

OF "Kangaroo tail," the latest article of food in England, a London journal says: "Those who object to the destruction of animal life can eat this meat without a scruple, as the tails of kangaroos are so large that they must be an inconvenience to their owners, while by placing the animals under the influence of chloroform their tails can be painlessly amputated and packed in tins before they are aware of the operation."

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 113⅛@113¼.

ON joint ballot in the Ohio Legislature the Republicans have a working majority which may be interpreted to mean the re-election of Hon. John Sherman, to the Senate of the United States.

ENGLAND, Ireland and Scotland are nobly responding to the cry for relief sent across the ocean from Chicago. Thus far over $151,000 in gold has been collected in London, Glasgow and Dublin alone.

WE don't like to be considered cruel, but the late parade of chickens by the Post on the Texas election certainly needs to be explained. What was the Democratic majority? Let us have the figures, neighbor.

THE correspondent of the Cincinnati Chronicle is responsible for the statement that five hundred babies were born on the prairies on Monday night of the fire! Must have been prairie chickens he was talking about, for the story is much too tough to believe.

THE New York World bewails the loss of Rothermel's great historical painting fire. Its tears are wasted. We have of the Battle of Gettysburg, in the Chicago private assurance of its complete safety, and in a few days it will be placed in the Pittsburgh Art Gallery.

IN THE Luzerne Senatorial District the Democracy have, by downright fraud, counted out Mr. Parish, Republican, who received a plurality of votes, and awarded the election to Mr. Collins, Democrat. We can, however, very well afford to lose one Senator so long as it fastens another charge of fraud to the opposition.

CINCINNATI dreads a visit from the thieves who visited Chicago, and are now on their passage home. In view of protection against them the police are instructed to stop every person walking the streets after midnight to question his whereabouts and intentions. We may expect a similar visitation, so get your revolvers ready.

OUR LADIES, God bless them one and all, are at work making clothing for the naked and shivering sufferers of Chicago. As in the dark days of war, they have organized sewing circles, and working collectively they have accomplished a great deal. Many grateful hearts will pray that God may reward such noble women when their handiwork is distributed among the afflicted of the ruined city.

HAD the Chicago fire occurred six months ago the local insurance companies of this city would have suffered very materially, but as it is they came off very safely in the way of losses. The ill fated city was so over-run by insurance companies and agents that from competition the rates fell so far down that it did not pay to carry risks, and hence our companies canceled their policies as soon as they fell due. Thus, what was deemed a loss of business at the time proved a golden advantage in the end.

BOTH THE Herald and Courier of Titusville develope by their reports of the oil production for the month of September a decrease of more than one thousand barrels per day from the amount produced during the preceding month, and likewise a dimunition of over fifty thousand barrels in the stock held on the 1st day of September. This is a very unfavorable report for oil dealers, but it has not yet materially advanced the markets inasmuch as its correctness is most seriously doubted. The figures will be overhauled to ascertain the truth or falsity of the statistics.

EVERY whistle has to be paid for by somebody, although it is often the case that we hear nothing of the bill until after our ears have for a long time been pierced with the shrill piping of the instrument. Cincinnati has glorified herself on account of the wonderful Tyler Davidson fountain; she has held herself and Mr. Probasco up for all the world to fall down before in speechless admiration; she has jubilated with a great noise which was heard throughout all the world. And now in one of her papers we see a still, small communication, stating that the supply of water in Mount Auburn and the neighboring districts has been totally stopped since the inauguration of the "public boon," and that the water which the towering genius of the fountain casts down from her outspread palms as a public blessing, is really stolen from the unfortunate citizens, whose representative writes the communication, and who earnestly demand either that the fountain or the water tax be stopped.

MASSACHUSETTS, the mother of so many schisms and sects, has just given birth to another, an infant, which, like all the others, lays great claim to supremacy. In Springfield, it seems there, is a certain Elder Curry, who considers himself to be the heir and successor of the Persian potentate Cyrus. That gentleman, it would seem, received the contract to rebuild the temple and failed to complete it, and Curry is the man who is to finish the job, because, he says, his name is derived from the same cuneiform root as Cyrus. But the temple he is to build is not a material but a spiritual one. Mr. Curry assures his followers, for any one can find followers in New England, that they are not to die, but after forty years of this earth, they are to put on immortality at a time when the kingdom of the Saints, consisting of Curry and 144,000 others, will be founded. We suppose if one of the aforesaid followers should venture to die before the forty years have passed, Mr. Curry would feel assured that he could not have been one of the elect.

IS THERE to be a revolution in England? The signs of the times certainly seem to indicate as much. The press bristles with accounts of public meetings and daring speeches. The tory leader proclaims his belief in the Queen's incompetency and the head radical pronounces the august lady insane, and calls for her abdication and the formation of a republic. The indications plainly are that if Albert Edward ever mounts the throne of his fathers, it will be through English blood that he reaches it. Supposing, however, that Victoria is the last of the English sovereigns, two possibilities present themselves. There are very many true, honest, capable Republicans in England, who, if they are able, may make a wise and admirable change in the government; and there are the blood-thirsty, greedy, infidel internationals, who would like nothing better than to overthrow and burn all that is in England, in order to revel and luxuriate in the sense of their own power, in the helplessness of the people and in the terror of their own reign. Heaven forbid that the followers of Marx and the French Communists should ever gain the upper hand.

IF OUR CHARITABLE people mean to help the poor and distressed sufferers from the terrible fires in Wisconsin and Michigan they should at once move in the matter. Within a few weeks navigation will close and all supplies sent thither will have to be transported by teams some sixty miles before they can be placed at the disposal of the sufferers. As all the contributions made to the Chicago Relief Fund were offered in a disinterested spirit of charity towards alleviating the distresses of afflicted humanity, there can be nothing wrong in diverting a portion of the money and clothing in another direction where want and misery dwell. We do hope that some effort will be made to relieve the sufferers of Manistee, Holland and the other villages swept away by fire simultaneously with the destruction of Chicago. No delay should be made, but action should be prompt in order that any relief afforded may prove opportune. We again ask who will make a move to help the poor people of the prairies of the Northwest? We have discharged our duty to Chicago. Let us show that our charity is not exhausted.

—Since writing the above, as will be seen in our local columns, the movement has been started, and funds are already on the way to Michigan. Let the good work go on.

WE are sure that a disproportionate amount of satisfaction will be felt throughout this country over the news of the defeat of the yacht Livonia. The owner of that representative vessel has deported himself as if he aimed to completely fill the role of the Englishman as he appears on the French and German stage. Snobbish, haughty, overbearing, ridiculous, ignorant. It was a French Duke of the last century, we believe, who said: "It is remarkable how much an Englishman does not know." And if he had waited a hundred years, he might have said: "It is remarkable how much breeding an Englishman can lack." It is not considered elegant to be polite in England, and it is necessary to be brutal and very slangy to be a fine gentleman. Fortunately these ideas are largely due to the example and and influence of a certain very exalted personage, who serves a purpose, as his motto—Ich dien—indicates; and very fortunately that personage's influence is comparatively limited in its extent. Mr. Asbury, however, appears to be a disciple of that worthy nephew of a still more worthy uncle, who considered himself the first gentleman in Europe. Since before his arrival in this country, he has behaved most insolently, and, now, after all of his turnings and twistings and endeavors to gain advantages—what the boys call inchings—his yacht has been beaten in the first race by the Columbia, and very badly beaten too. For ourselves, we confess we are most heartily glad of it.

HAVE WE DONE OUR DUTY?

We cannot help asking ourselves this question, as the news of our great political triumph continues to reach us from all parts of our State, from Ohio, and from our stronghold in the Mississippi valley, Iowa. Nobly has the Republican party vindicated itself from the miserable aspersions of Democracy and its allies throughout the West and South the Ex-chieftains of the Southern Confederacy. Charges of malfeasance in office, tyranny, oppressive taxation, interference with the rights of States, usurpations of power, and others similarly foolish, yet calculated to touch the popular pulse, were rained upon the devoted heads of our party and its officers, until the skies at times looked fairly black above us with the terrible forebodings of coming disasters to our country and our countrymen, but after all the yeomanry of these States have proved that the transient dreams of misrule entertained and spread abroad with so much apparent show of truth, have fallen stillborn and harmless as the snow flakes from heaven. The people were not to be deceived by special pleadings from the lips of those who had fully established their character long before, not only as political tricksters but actual enemies of our beloved country. On the other hand mountains of charges heaped up from such sources could not shake the confidence of the people in their tried and trusted servants, nor in the general faith they possess that Republicanism means peace, progress, prosperity, reduction of taxation, economy, and retrenchment in expenses, whilst Democracy has proved itself the vile attendant upon its mistress slavery, and even now folds lovingly to its breast, the traitors who attempted to tear our glorious Republic to pieces. Are these statements not true? Are they not the truthful results of our history, during the past years? Why then, should not the Republicans of Allegheny, the old banner county of Pennsylvania, bow their heads in shame at the footings of last Tuesdays vote? Where were the ten thousand voters of our party, who voted for General Grant, but who failed to attend the polls on Tuesday last? Why were they not at their posts? Did they not know that we were having a desperate contest with the old enemy, with ranks not by any means compact? Did they not know that Pennsylvania was made the battle ground upon which the success or defeat of the coming Presidential contest was made to hang? Was it not apparent to every intelligent man, who was earnestly the friend of protection to home labor and industry, that to lose Pennsylvania would be to lose the tariff? The West and South are united upon this point viz., it is necessary to hold Pennsylvania as a Republican State even more so, for the general good, than the adoption of a strictly commercial policy, therefore protection must be the settled principle of the party. We state our belief in plain words, that should Pennsylvania have gone Democratic at the recent election, the western and southern memmembers of the next National Convention of our party would have insisted on a revenue instead of a protective tariff, and they would have been endorsed by the entire agricultural vote of those districts. Therefore are we all the more to be blamed for our indifference, as our material interests, as well as the general welfare of the country, not to mention in this connection the life of our party, all depended upon Pennsylvania being carried by the Republicans on Tuesday last. It is amazing that people will be so neglectful of their manifest duty to their country in time of danger, it is still more wonderful that they fail to see their own pecuniary interests hazarded by such neglect. What can be the cause? Are good people afraid to go to the polls? We think not, for Allegheny county Democracy has never yet dared to imitate the example of its fellows in other places, who have at times, made the neighborhood of the voting places a wild scene of disorder, if not of bloodshed. Is politics growing unpopular with the masses, and do the people fail to find in them a necessity for action, for exertion? We think not. Then how is it that our vote was so far behind that usually cast at a general election? It is a mystery that we cannot solve, unless we account for it on the supposition that the issues of last Tuesday were not vital either to the party, or to individual interests. If this be the excuse we think we have fully shown its fallacy; that much depended upon the success of our party, in shaping the future policy to be pursued, as well as to settle the great question where the Keystone State was to to be placed in the electoral college of 1872. These matters are now fully decided, for this year at least, and possibly for the next, and we trust many years to come. But no thanks to the stay-at-home electors of our State. We think if they could fully appreciate the dangers through which the efforts of others than themselves have successfully brought them, the party, and the nation, they would be ready to answer, negatively, the question which heads this article. No, they have not done their duty, and Allegheny, is therefore, no longer the "banner county" of the State and country. That proud title belongs to Philadelphia, and it remains to be seen whether it shall not be wrested from her, by this stronghold of Republicanism, this hive of industrious men, who have long ago proved their loyalty to the country, and to the great principles of the party of liberty and progress. Let the elections of next year, at which we are to cast our ballots for a President, a Vice President and a Governor, several Judges, members of Congress, etc., restore to us the proud title of which we have been, by our own indifference, shorn. We have the numbers, we have the way, let us show the country that we have the will. Grant, and Victory for 1872.

THE NEXT LEGISLATURE.

Republican Majority on Joint Ballot Twenty-seven.

Below we present a complete list of the members elected to the next Legislature. The newly elected Senators are marked with a star (*). Frank D. Collins, D., has received the certificate of election by the grossest frauds, and we presume his seat will be contested.

RECAPITULATION.

Last year the Rupublicans had six majority in the House and only five majority on joint ballot. This is a wonderful change, when we remember that the Democrats gerrymandered the State to suit themselves.

Better Imagined Than Described.

The feelings of a near-sighted man who finds he has kissed his hand to the wrong lady.

The finding your pocket book gone just as you are about leaving a strange hotel, with no time to spare to reach the train.

The rapidity with which fancy stocks decline, when you go in, and rise when you sell out.

The sensation from a lady's boot heel (present style) when she steps on your foot accidentally.

The prices charged at some hotels on "the European style."

The skill with which the "gentlemanly" bar keeper gives you short change.

Getting on horseback for the first time in your life.

The amount of your gas and plumbing bills.

Your mother-in-law's remarks if you do not go to the mountains or sea-shore during the season.

The being asked by a person at an evening party, with whom you are acquainted, but whose name you cannot recollect, to introduce him to your friend, Miss Smuggings, who is coming towards you.—Boston Commercial Bulletin.

BURNING MICHIGAN.

Facts and Incidents from Various Parts of the Burned Country.

The villages of Elm Creek, Center Harbor, Sandy Beach, Huron City and New River—all in Huron county—have been completely destroyed by fire. Port Hope is reported gone, except Stafford's store and house. A Mr. Corbett and a Mrs. Richards are said to have been burned up, as also a Mr. McPherson and his wife. We fear we have not heard the worst yet.

A telegram from Forester says: The fires here have been very destructive. Very many houses have been entirely destroyed. Many families are rendered homeless and destitute. Nothing is left of good farms but the bare land, the inhabitants, in many cases, barely escaping with their lives, and then they were compelled to run to the lake and stand in the water up to their necks, and in this position to remain for hours. Even then their heads were in danger of burning while in this terrible situation. Some escaped the fire by jumping into wells, and even then were compelled to fight to keep from burning. This place would have burned if there had been no clearing west of us, of which there is about 150 acres. It is very smoky yet, but there is no danger at present.

A small village named Verona, just west of (back) Sand Beach, in the interior, is entirely wiped out.

R. B. Hubbard, of Huron city, had some of the finest stock, horses and cattle, in Huron county. To prevent them being burned, Mr. Hubbard shot them all.

The revenue cutter Fessenden this morning, picked up a small sail boat with nineteen persons in it, among whom were Isaac Green and family, and others, of Forestville. O'Keefe, the operator at Forestville, who it was feared, had perished, has since been heard from, twelve miles back in the country, with Mr. Green's books in his possesion.

AROUND SAGINAW.

The fire around Saginaw is pretty well subdued, the rain this morning did an immense amount of good. Happily, the disastrous fires of Saturday night began and ended our misfortunes, but all day Monday this city and Saginaw city were in imminent danger. All along the Saginaw river we hear of nothing but narrow escapes and distruction of property, but the total damage is much smaller than was expected, considering the terrible fires in the surrounding woods.

AROUND MIDLAND.

The report that reached here yesterday that Midland was in flames was not correct. The city suffered no damage, but had it not been for the extraordinary exertion of the people we would have had a different story to tell. The whole place on Monday night was entirely surrounded with a vast sheet of flames, and the cracking of the fire and the falling of trees made the scene a fearful one. Valiantly did the people fight the flames, but so steadily and surely would they spread that all the exertions of the people appeared quite futile. The fierce wind added to the fury of the flames and carried sparks and burning fragments through the air. At one time the whole heavens appeared one mass of fire, and the destruction of the place appeared inevitable, but the unceasing labors of the people kept the fire within bounds, and the city of Midland escaped.

FOUR MILLS BURNED.

Late last night we received the news that four shingle mills were destroyed between three and four miles from Midland. Besides these mills, all the shanties, boarding houses and barns attached, and a quantity of shingles were also consumed. The flames made a clean sweep, and men and cattle were driven in all directions to seek a place of safety. So fierce were the flames and so rapid did they spread that, before the men working at the mills were aware of it, they were completely surrounded by the burning woods, without the remotest hope of escape. They rushed in all directions, but they could not find a way out of their dangerous location. The burning circle around them was gradually but surely growing smaller, and there was no time to be wasted. Some lowered themselves down into wells, and others dug holes in the ground, in which they sought protection. In these uncomfortable positions they remained all night, not daring to move for fear of the falling trees. Yesterday a gang of men with wagons was sent out from Midland to their relief, and all escaped without serious injury.

CROOKED LAKE.

At this place the fire is burning so fiercely that all lumbering operations have been suspended. The men have been obliged to get out of the woods to save their lives. For quite a distance along Pine river the news is equally alarming. In that direction the fire appeared to be terrible, and as all communication with the several lumber camps is cut off, it is impossible to get at the damage, but the general impression is that the camps are destroyed or broken up.

HOLLAND CITY IN ASHES.

During Monday the city of Grand Haven was full of terrible rumors as to the fire in Holland City, but nothing definite or reliable could be learned until the arrival, at two o'clock, of a train from the north side of Black lake, containing several passengers, among whom were Miss Jenny and Miss Clara Pennoyer, two young ladies who have been engaged in teaching in the doomed city. The statement of these young ladies is nearly as follows: The fire broke in upon the city from the woods about five P. M., Sunday, but no buildings of any consequence burned until dark in the evening. No one thought the city was in any special danger until 10 or 11 o'clock, but at that time a strong wind setting in from the woods, the fire swept over the city with wonderful rapidity. The main part of the city was soon in flames. Not a building on River and Eighth street escaped, except one or two near the long bridge.

The portion of the city where Professor Charles Scott resided, was completely destroyed, and the Professor, not being found, it was generally feared that he had fallen a victim to the flames. Mr. Joslin, of the firm of Breynan & Joslin, who kept the variety store, a very clever gentleman, and another of the best citizens, was actively engaged in rescuing persons from the flames. He insisted on going once more to the rescue; friends advised him not to venture, but he would not be dissuaded, thinking there were still lives to be saved. He did not return, and is believed to have been suffocated and burned to death. The livery stables were emptied of the horses, which were taken to the public square as the only place of safety. Thousands of people were collected there. Women and children were then running about the streets, wailing and crying, unable to find their husbands and fathers, brothers and sisters. Many females barely escaped with their night clothes. A child, ten years of age, was picked up on the street burned to death. It is impossible to tell how many lives have been lost. Some nine or ten citizens are missing, but some may yet be found.

The bridge of the Michigan Lake Shore railroad was burned down, but the depot, being an isolated building, was saved.

When the Miss Pennoyers left, men were trying to keep the fire from the college buildings, but the succeeding train reported that these buildings, although of brick, were burning; also the Union School buildings and all the churches except the Seceders or the "True Reformed church." One woman in leaving her house had tied her baby in a bundle, but in her hurry she took the wrong bundle, and to her dismay discovered her mistake when it appeared too late. Of seven children she could only find two. Fortunately, however, the bundle containing the live baby was picked up in the street, and it was belived that the other children were also found.

A message from Hon. M. D. Howard was received by the train, stating that the people were in danger of starving, as all the stores were destroyed, and asking that a supply be immediately shipped. Hon. D. Cutley immediately called on the stores and ordered a supply of crackers, and all the cooked provisions that could be collected, sent to the depot. The train did not get off till Tuesday morning, when rain came and subdued the flames along the road.

The Scene in the Tunnel at Chicago.

One of the most dramatic and impressive scenes of the fire, not yet recorded, was the flight through the La Salle street tunnel under the river during Sunday night. It was about two o'clock when this strange hegira began, and in ten minutes it became a furious route. The bridges on both sides were on fire, and the flames were writhing over the decks of the brigs in the river, and winding their fierce arms of flame around the masts and through the rigging like a monstrous, luminous devil-fish. The awful canopy of fire drew down and closed over Water street as the shrieking multitude rushed for the tunnel, the only avenue of escape. The gas-works had already blown up, and there was no light in any house save the illumination which lighted up only to destroy. But into the darkened cave rushed pell-mell, from all directions, the frenzied crowd—bankers, thives, draymen, wives, children—in every stage of undress, as they had leaped from burning lodgings, a howling, imploring, cursing, waiting mob, making their desperate dive under the river. It was as dark in the tunnel as it is in the center of the earth, perhaps darker. Hundreds of the fugitives were laden with furniture, household goods, utensils, loaves of bread, and pieces of meat, and their rush through the almost suffocating tunnel was fearful in the extreme. They knocked each other down, and the strong trod on the helpless. Nothing was heard at the mouth of the cavernous prison but a muffled howl of rage and anguish. Several came forth with broken limbs and terrible bruises, as they scattered and resumed their flight under the blazing sky to the North ward.

CERTIFICATE OF A CURE OF DEAFNESS.

NOISE LIKE A TEA KETTLE.

I took my son David Gilchrist, eight years old, to Dr. Keyser on the twenty-eighth of July, 1871, for a deafness and discharge from both ears, and a continual noise like the sound of a tea kettle, which had been coming on for over a year. He at that time could not hear a watch tick unless held close to the ears. The disease had been gradually growing worse, so that I had been made to believe him almost incurable, in fact most of the neighbors told me he would never get well. I had heard and read of Dr. Keyser's treatment in the daily newspapers, so I went to see the doctor, who told me he could cure him. He gave my son inward medicine and also applications to the ear, which I am happy to say has entirely cured him; and now, October 14th, he can hear the watch at two feet distance, and can hear the most ordinary conversation. His health otherwise has greatly improved, and I only feel too grateful for the remarkable cure of my son and take pleasure in making the case public.

AN ANCHOR TO WINDWARD.

It is good seamanship, when there is reason to expect heavy weather, to drop an anchor to windward.

We are in the midst of the season of chills and fever. The sure preventive of this distressing malady is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. A course of that wholesome vegetable tonic will render an attack impossible. Take the hint and drop an anchor to windward.

Weak stomachs are most liable to be disordered late in the autumn, when the changes of temperature are marked and frequent. Hostetter's Bitters fortifies the stomach against the effects of these variations. Let dyspeptics make a note of the fact and drop an anchor to windward.

The liver is more sensitive when the weather is continually alternating between the warmth of summer and the cold of winter than at any other period of the year. This is peculiarly the season of such alterations. Let the bilious remember that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is essentially an anti-bilious medicine, and drop an anchor to windward.

The wisest plan is to forestall evil. The next best thing is to arrest it. For disorders of the stomach, irregularities of the bowels, and all periodical fevers, take, as soon as the complaint developes itself Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

LOUISVILLE

CEMENT.

The Best--The Cheapest.

The Cement has acquired the reputation as the first in the country in hydraulic strength and uniform reliability.

It is now in general use from the lakes to the Gulf, most of the public works in the West and South being constructed with it.

The mills at Louisville having been enlarged and improved, can supply any demand, and though the Cement has always, for 30 years brought higher prices than competing brands, it is from this time the determination of the manufacturers, in order to largely increase the sale and extend the use of their Cement, to furnish it in the principal markets at prices which make it the most available and economical for all classes of work.

The large capacity of this Cement for taking sand renders it much the cheapest that can be used for buildings of any kind.

At the reduced prices in Pittsburgh its cost is not much above common lime, which makes it unquestionably to the interest of owners and builders that the foundation of every good house should be laid in this Cement.

A large stock of fresh Cement has just been received by barges from Louisville, and is offered at greatly reduced prices by the following dealers:

This Cement is equal to any cement made in the United States, in many respects better than the Louisville Cement or the Rosendale, and decidedly better in all respects than the Uniontown or Akron Cement. It has a smaller amount of shrinkage, sets gradual, bears as much sand as any cement made, and gets as hard; stands frost well it has all the qualities that hydraulic cement should have. The facilities for getting this cement is greater than all others in this market, less freight and fresher, which is an important matter Having but a short distance to ship we can therefore sell cheaper than any other in the market.

—We extract the following from the financial column of the Chicago Tribune, of Monday:

"The feeling among the bankers, yesterday, was much more cheerful than on the previous day, when the resolutions in regard to the probable course of the banks was adopted.

We have talked with not less than fifteen or eighteen prominent bankers, and find a disposition on the part of several of them to resume business as usual, paying checks of their depositors for all reasonable sums within the amount of the balances due them. The Merchants' National and several others may possibly adopt this course. They affirm positively their ability to pay every dollar of their deposits within sixty days, and express their willingness to submit to the unquestionable right of their depositors to check out their entire balances, but earnestly hope they will not adopt a policy that would be fraught with such harm to all. If the banks could receive from their depositors some assurances of their confidence and their disposition to sustain the banks, it would go a great way toward re-establishing business.

One important question arises in regard to outstanding checks drawn on Saturday, the 7th, and that would, in the ordinary course of business, have gone through the clearings on Monday morning had it not been for the fire. We have conversed with a number of prudent bankers on this subject, who are of the opinion that these checks should be paid in full,—in other words, that they should go through the clearing houses as though no fire had occurred. These checks are now held by the banks against each other, and ought to be balanced off against each other. It would take comparatively little money to do this, and would get one obstacle out of the way of the resumption of business.

The Comptroller of the Currency will be in Chicago on Monday or Tuesday, to confer with the National Banks in regard to the re-establishment of their business.

The State Savings Institution expect to begin paying depositors early next week. Depositors not in suffering condition can help those who are, by keeping out of the line for a day or two. The bank will begin paying by instalment as soon as the twenty dollar payment to sufferers is disposed of.

The securities taken from the bank vault before the buildings were burned was taken to Gen. Sheridan's residence and guarded until Tuesday night, when, having been unable to get an express company to take charge of them, the President, Mr. Haines, with three trusted men connected with the bank, took a compartment in a Pullman car, and with the valuables in common travelling bags, started for New York, arriving there with everything safe on Thursday. Mr. Haines will remain in New York for a time to attend personally to selling the bonds and remitting the money from day to day, as required, and the others will return to be on hand when they begin to pay depositors."

NEW YORK, October 17, 1871.

Gold dull and weak at 113⅛@113¼. Loans were made at from 1 to 6 per cent. for carrying, and one small lot of 5 per cent. for use. Clearances were about $53,000,000. Government bond market feverish and unsettled, being weak and steady by turns. At the close it was dull and steady. Stocks opened steady, but on call commenced to decline, and sold down from 1 to 3½ per cent. The decline extended through the entire list, and the lowest prices were made at the close. There is a stringency in the money market and the impression is that some heavy houses unloaded their stocks and arrested the decline. The depression in N. York and Harlem was caused by the announcement that ten thousand common stocks were to be sold on Exchange on Friday next. The market closed weak. The demand for money on call was very sharp, and the market more stringent than yesterday. The principal borrowers were accommodated at 7 per cent. currency to gold interest. On Governments as collateral borrowers other than the very best houses paid dear rates for money in the shape of having their stocks turned or carried over until to-morrow. The best rates ranged from one-sixteenth to one-half per cent. It is estimated that three and a half millions currency were shipped to Chicago yesterday and to-day. The Express says: There is great anxiety in financial and commercial circles to hear from the Chicago banks. The people in Chicago are inspired with confidence, and leave their balances on deposit, then undoubtedly a more cheerful feeling will prevail here; but if there should be a run on the banks, it might aggravate the situation here. The Montreal Telegram says that the Bank of Montreal is about establishing an agency in Chicago. State bonds dull and unchanged.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, October 17, 1871.

ASHES—Common Soda ash, 4 cts; refined do, 4⅜@4⅝; Pearls, 9⅜; Pots, 7⅜; Nitrate Soda, 4⅜@4⅝.

APPLES—The receipts continue large, and with scarcely an average demand, stocks are accumulating, though prices are still maintained—holders are unwilling to make the slightest concessions on good winter fruit. We continue to quote at $2.50@3 per bbl for fair to good, and $3.50 for prime.

BUTTER—The market continues dull with a supply, particularly of the common and medium grades, largely in excess of the demand; prime to choice roll unchanged at 18@20.

BROOM CORN—Is firm and in limited supply, and a further advance in prices is confidently expected; sales at 6@8 cents as to quality.

BEANS—Market almost bare, and there's some inquiry; prime navy may be quoted at $2.25@2.50 per bushel.

BEESWAX—Quoted at 30@33c.

CORN MEAL—Is very quiet and the demand is mainly of a retail character; may be quoted in small lots at 85@90 cts per bushel.

CEMENT—Louisville, $2.50@3.00 per bbl. Rosendale, $4.00@4.50; Calcined Plaster, $4.25@4.50.

CIDER—The market is quiet and unchanged at $4@8 per bbl.

CARBON OIL—The market is quiet and devoid of anything particularly new or important; standard brands, in a jobbing way, are still quoted at 23@23½.

CRANBERRIES—In fair demand but unchanged—$10@12 per bbl, according to quality and condition.

CHEESE—Is steady and moderately active here, though trade is reported as having fallen off at the factories. We continue to quote New York Goshen, at 15½@16; Ohio Goshen, 15@15½; Factory, 14@14½; Dairy, 13@13½. We understand that the most of the cheese, sold here as New York Goshen is made in Ohio.

CHESTNUTS—The receipts seem to have fallen off somewhat but the supply is still in excess of the demand and prices are no better, ranging from $3.00@3.25 per bushel.

DRIED FRUIT—Peaches steady but unchanged; prime halves, 9½@10; quarters, 7@8. There is some inquiry for Apples, and but few in market.

EGGS—Continue firm, and with an average demand and light arrivals, prices are well maintained; sales reported at 28; 29 and 30—however, 28 seems to be regarded as the ruling quotations.

FLOUR—The market is firm and moderately active, though there is no change whatever in prices; good spring extras, $7.25@7.50; choice Minnesota baker's flour $8; and good to choice red winter wheat $7.50@7.75. We understand that some of the Ohio millers have got their ideas very much inflated, but judging from present indications, they will soon get over this; if they are basing big prices as a result of the Chicago conflagration, they are very likely to be disappointed, as there was but comparatively little wheat destroyed. In New York, wheat is worth but little more now than it was prior to the fire, while at other points it is lower; this does not look well for those who are disposed to be bullish—who are counting upon big prices.

GRAIN—The receipts of Grain, excepting Wheat, continue very light, and, in consequence of a scarcity, temporary it may be, prices are strong and tending upward. Wheat is coming in more freely, and, as the mills seem to be pretty well supplied, the market is easier, though prices remain unchanged, $1.43@1.45 for red and $1.48@1.50 for white. Oats, firm and in demand, though not quotably higher; mixed, 45@46; prime white, 47@48—sales to-day at the last named quotation. The arrivals for some days past have been comparatively light, and to this may be attributed mainly the recent advance, though it has been expected for a month or more that prices would go higher. Corn is very scarce and there is considerable inquiry, and prices, for immediate delivery, are higher; shelled, on spot, may be quoted at 75@77. In the event of increased receipts, it is probable that prices will go back. Rye is scarce and in demand. No. 1 spring Barley may be quoted at 83@85, and fall at 85@90.

GROCERIES—The Coffee market continues very firm, and prices are still tending upward; holders generally are indifferent about selling, being apprehensive that they may not be able to replace at present prices. Sugars steady but unchanged. Molasses continue very dull. Rice, Syrups, Spices, etc., etc., quiet and unchanged.

SUGARS—Refined—Standard Hards, 13¾; A. 13; B, 12¾; Ex. C, 12¾; C. Yellow, 12½. Porto Rico Sugars—Choice, 11½; Prime, 11; Good, 10¾. Cuba Sugars, 10¼@11. Demarara, 12¼@12¾. Sugar House Sugars—Knight's Extra C Yellow, 11½; C. C. 11½; other grades, 9@11. New Orleans Sugars—None in market.

COFFEE—Fancy Rio, 24; Prime, 23, Good, 22. Fair, 20@21½, Java, 28@30. Laguayra, 25@26. Mocha, 45. Roasted Coffee, pure, 24@25. Lower grades, 22@23.

SYRUPS—Havemeyer & Elder's, 75. White Honey, 75. Lovering's, 60. Durant's, 75. Brune's, 75; other grades, 48@60. New Orleans Molasses, 60@68.

RICE—Choice Carolina, 9¾; Good, 9½; Fair, 8¾. Rangoon, 8@8½. Patna, 8.

SPICES—Pepper, 23. Allspice, 18. Cassia, 50. Cloves, 20. Nutmegs, $1.30.

HIDES—Green Salted, 10¼@11¼; Green Butcher's, 8; Dry Flint, 21@22; Green Calf Skins, 14@15; Green Salted Calf, 17@18.

HUSKS—Quoted at 2½@2¾ cts.

HEMP—Quoted at $165 per ton.

HAY—Baled is still quoted at $25@27 for prime to choice timothy; supply, although not large, is fully up to the demand.

HONEY—Sales reported at from 25@35 cts per lb, as to quality and condition.

LARD OIL—Pittsburgh manufacture, quoted at 72 for No. 1, in round lots—75 in a small way. Well known western brands cannot be sold here below 80.

LIME—Perrysburg white, $2.00@2.25 per bbl; Cleveland $2.25; Eastern, $1.75.

MILL FEED—Is quoted in a jobbing way, at $22@23 per ton for Bran; $24@26 for Seconds; $34@36 for Middlings, and $44@45 for Oil Meal.

ONIONS—The arrivals for some time past have been comparatively light, but the supply is fully up to the demand and prices remain unchanged, $2.75@3.25 per bbl.

POTATOES—Irish potatoes are coming in more freely but there is no change in prices, 60@65 cts per bushel. Fresh receipts of Sweets are in better demand and 25@50 cts per bbl higher; we now quote prime Jersey's at $3.25@3.50 per bbl.

POULTRY—Live chickens firmer and higher in consequence of diminished receipts; we now quote at 50@60 cts per pair, by the coop.

PROVISIONS—Plain Bacon Shoulders, 7¾@8; ribbed sides, 8½; short ribbed sides; 8¾; clear sides, 9½; sugar cured shoulders, 9; plain sugar cured hams, 16; canvassed, 16½@16¾. Lard: in tcs, 10; in kegs, 10¾; in buckets, 12. Ham sausage, 11. Dried Beef, 18. Mess Pork, 14. Breakfast Bacon, 11.

PEA NUTS—Steady at 12@13 cts.

RAGS—Sales, 4@4½ cts per lb.

SALT—Is quoted at $1.85, by the car load, and $2 in small lots.

SEEDS—Timothy Seed is reported very quiet; quoted at $3.25 for small lots. Clover Seed, nominal at $6.75@7.00. Flaxseed, $1.80@1.85.

SUMAC—Sales Tennessee Sumac at 4½ cts.

WILLOWS—Quoted firm at 10 cts.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY October 17, 1871.

While there are but very few sales being made, the receipts of crude and shipments of refined continue large, and, while business is generally reported very dull by the brokers, all the refineries seem to be in full blast, though it is alleged that they are working on very small margins. We did not hear of a quotation of crude to-day; at Parker it supposed to be worth about $4.67@4.70. Refined, reported a shade firmer; October, 24¼. November and December, not quoted.

The reports of the Titusville papers, in regard to the production, are out at last; the most remarkable feature to notice is that they report a decrease in September, as compared with August, while the report of the "Producers Association," published some days since, showed an increase.

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede slowly with about 30 inches in the channel. Weather cloudy and warmer with indications of rain.

The Monongahela river boats seem to be doing a good business, and since the recent rise, that stream is in good navigable condition.

The John F. Tolle is rapidly approaching completion, and it looks now as if she would be completed by the time there is water. She will load here for New Orleans.

—The last of the once celebrated Collins line of steamers has has disappeared from the list of American ships. An account of the fate of the different vessels composing this line may be interesting. The Arctic and the Pacific were lost on voyages between New York and Liverpool. The Baltic, after remaining idle for several years, was altered into a sailing vessel, and made several voyages to and from San Francisco, and was then sold to an English ship owner. The Adriatic, the youngest and finest of the line, was sold to go under a foreign flag, and the Atlantic, after many years of idleness, has been sent to Cold Spring Harbor, Long Island, to be broken up for the old iron and copper.

—Saturday's St. Louis Republican says: Among the many of our steamboatmen who have subscribed to the aid of the Chicago sufferers we notice the following: Steamer Susie Silver, fifty dollars; Keokuk Packet Company, two hundred and fifty dollars; Peoria Packet company, fifty dollars; St. Hemingway, twenty-five dollars; Memphis Packet company, five hundred dollars; James B. Eads, one thousand dollars; St. Louis and New Orleans Packet company, two hundred dollars. There is still more coming in every day from other steamboat owners, which will probably be about three thousand dollars donated by steamboatmen alone.

—We clip the following items from a late Sioux City paper: The Far West, Captain S. B. Coulson in command, cleared for Grand River Agency, Sunday. The last ton of Government freight for the up-river posts, under the Durfee & Peck and Kountz contracts, for the season, has been received, and will be shipped from here within the next two weeks. Captain William Massie, formerly of the Ida Stockdale, has gone east to build a boat for the mountain trade. She will be a sternwheeler, full cabin, and 20 feet longer than the Far West; and will be called the John H. Charles. The Peninah, from Fort Buford, reached this city last evening.

—We clip the following from the Cincinnati Commercial: Henry Robinson, a well-known Cincinnati and New Orleans pilot, aged about thirty-three years, died at the family residence in the Seventeenth Ward, last Friday night, after a lingering illness, of consumption, leaving a widow and two children to mourn his demise. The deceased was a frank, generous, open-hearted man, and passionately fond of fishing and hunting. The colors on the landing were displayed at half-mast yesterday, in respect to the memory of the deceased.

—The price paid by steamboats for the privilege of landing at the wharf at New Orleans is ten cents per ton on the Custom House measurement of the tonnage of boats. At Vicksburg, steamers which land at that port must pay $10 wharfage both going and coming, or $20 in making landings on both down and up bound trips.

—The seizure of the steamer John Lumsden turns out to be a small affair. The boat some time ago accidentally parted the lines of a flatboat at Cairo, causing a claim for damages, the amount of damage sustained being so small that nobody anticipated that any claim would be presented.

—Eight hundred yards of new carpet for the steamer Great Republic were burned up in the fire at Chicago, fortunately for the owners of the steamer the carpet had not been paid for. The carpet was worth $5,000.

—At a large meeting of the Board of Directors, the time of the opening of the Louisville and Portland Canal for the passage of boats, was postponed from October 20th to November 20th.

—The Legal Tender recently picked up a snag near Choctaw Bend, tearing away a portion of her cook house and upsetting a coal oil lamp, which came near setting the boat on fire

—Jno. F. Kirker, mate of the bully Fleetwood, was married to a belle of Manchester, Ohio, a few days since.

—Kanawha and New rivers were reported rising Saturday night.

—The St. Louis and Vicksburg packets are refusing freight for points below Memphis.

HOME NEWS.

The Pittsburgh Book and News Company has for sale engraved maps of the city of Chicago, with the burnt district colored—a great convenience.

Erratum.—A fair sample of nonsense is furnished in the editorial paragraph on our second page, referring to the Rothermel painting, by the compositor misplacing a line.

"Everybody's Paper," Chicago.—We have been requested by the publishers of this paper to advise their ten thousand readers in Pittsburgh that the paper for November will not be issued but that the December paper will be on hand as usual.

McIlwaine's Stock Sale.—The following stocks were sold last evening, by A. McIlwaine, Auctioneer, at his stock sales rooms, 106 Smithfield street:

Exchange Natio al Bank	$ 73 00
Citizens National Bank	71 50
M. and M., National Bank	70 00
F. and M., National Bank of Birmingham	112 00
Pittsburgh Gas Company	98 25
Monongahela Water Company	26 00

At Nos. 65 and 67 Sandusky street, Allegheny, Pa., is located the office and warehouse of the "Akron Sewer Pipe Co.," presided over by Mr. C. G. McMillen, a gentleman who for courtesy, promptitude and fair-dealing has no superior.

This company manufactures a very superior article of vitrified sewer pipe which resists the destructive action of acid and weather; also an extensive assortment of chimney tops, flues, fire brick, fire clay, grate and boiler tile, lawn vases, &c. Contractors and others may rely upon having their orders filled very promptly and reasonably.

Trimmings.

Ladies drop into Julian Morrow's, No. 73 Market street, to-day and look at the latest fashions in fancy goods, trimmings and general varieties for the dress and toilet. A fresh stock of goods for the fall season just received, all the latest notions and most fashionable styles, in color, quality and make up. This is the fashionable ladies trimming store in the city. The goods are always fresh, the prices always reasonable and everything of a quality that will be warranted. The place is No. 73 Market street.

Watching for Horse Thieves.

Mayor Brush Monday evening received a telegram from Indiana, Pa., requesting him to have his officers look out for two men who had stolen a fine, large roan horse and a bay mare from the subscriber, James Kuffner. It was stated that the two men stole the horses and set fire to the barn. They were on the road to the city or had already arrived here, having been heard of at Saltsburg. The case was given into the hands of officer Cupples, who has been looking energetically but ineffectually for the men and horses.

A Correction.

In the last sentence of an article, published yesterday, over the signature of Matilda Hindman it read as follows:

But who are those who denounce these reformers? Men who claim to be "Temperance Men." Men who say if they were in the legislature they would vote for a "Prohibitory Act" but would not dare to advocate it through the party organ. How would these men expect to get to the legislature on such principles? Not through the door of Republicanism or Democracy. Would they climb up some other way and be classed in the category spoken of by the wood-shop hand? Many other lessons might be learned from the worthy voters of Tuesday.

The word "wood-shop hand" should have read "Good Shepherd."

Stole a Ring.

Tuesday morning Jacob I. Strouse, jeweller on Penn street, came to the Mayor's office and made information charging Patrick Comer, cook in a cellar saloon on Fifth avenue, near Wood street, with the larceny of a gold ring, set with a moss agate. It was alleged that the accused came to the prosecutor's store and examined a tray of rings. A boy discovered him slipping the ring in question into his pocket. The lad came from behind the counter, called for the police, and held the door so that the customer could not escape. Officer Bowden put in a prompt appearance and took Patrick to the lock-up. On searching there the ring was found in his pocket, and he confessed the theft. The prisoner waived a hearing and was committed for trial.

Satisfactory Testimony.

Dr. Murdock and Mr. Ed. Seither, from the St. Charles Hotel, say that the steamers of the Bremen Line are in every respect equal, if not superior to the steamers of any other trans-Atlantic steamship line.

They made their late trip to Europe on one of those Bremen steamers and were better pleased than ever before on any other steamers.

This testimony of so distinguished and experienced ocean passengers is highly complimentary to the line as well as to the agent, Mr. Max Schamberg, 163 Smithfield street, in this city.

This gentleman is largely engaged in the foreign and inland transportation business, makes collections in Europe and attends to foreign business. We recommend him to our readers.

The New Episcopal Diocese.

By the consent of the general convention, now meeting in Baltimore, a new diocese has been formed, to comprise all that part of Pennsylvania lying east of the Allegheny Mountains, except the counties of Philadelphia, Chester, Bucks, Delaware and Montgomery. It is to go into existence on All Saints day, the 1st prox., the primary convention for organization being held shortly afterward. The chief interest now centres in the election of Bishop. A number of names have already been mentioned, both from within and without the diocese. The location of the See, or Bishop's residence, will also have to be determined on at the same time. The new Diocese will contain about 1,500,000 souls. In it are included nearly 80 parishes and over 90 clergymen, and the Church is growing steadily.

Division of Charities.

Very many persons, stirred by the accounts of the wide-spread devastation by the fires in Wisconsin and Michigan, express themselves strongly in favor of a diversion of a fourth or half of future contributions to the relief of the sufferers in those States. Some indeed would direct all, not yet forwarded to the agencies organized at Milwaukee instead of Chicago, arguing that the amount sent thither should suffice at least until the other sufferers are relieved. This subject should receive due consideration from all doners and committees.

The lady boarders at the Central Hotel are making up a box of new and second hand clothing, to be sent to Milwaukee for the women and children made destitute by the direful conflagrations that have swept over a portion of Wisconsin and Michigan. The box will be large enough to hold any clothing that others may desire to give and will send in during this day or to-morrow.

The Departed.

Yesterday morning at the appointed hour, the excursion train for Baltimore, left the Connellsville Depot, bearing away between four and five hundred of our citizens, including members of the City Councils, merchants, manufacturers, and representatives of the city press and of the various professions. The excursion train was divided into three sections. The first section consisted of four passenger coaches and one baggage car, and was drawn by engine No. 16, of which Rock Marratta was engineer. W. C. Pendleton, Esq., private secretary of President Hughart, had general charge of the first section, and Alexander Boulton was the conductor.

The second section consisted of four passenger coaches and a baggage car, and was under the general charge of Mr. C. Donnelly, Auditor of the Company, and Walter Dull was the conductor. The cars were drawn by engine No. 17, James Emory engineer.

The third section consisted of three passenger coaches, one baggage car, and the President's private car, which was attached to the section at Hazlewood. John H. Page, Esq., Secretary and Treasurer of the Company, did the honors in the absence of the President, and had general supervision of this particular section and the entire excursion train, assisted by Mr. John Sampsel, Superintendent of Machinery of the Western Division P. W. & B. R. R. Engine No. 15, under Simon Stone, engineer, was attached to this section.

The excursionists were accompanied by the Great Western Band.

The party were joined at Connellsville, Cumberland and other points along the route, by large delegations, which swelled the number of excursionists to about eight hundred.

The train reached Baltimore last night about ten o'clock, without accident, the party all in good spirits.

POLICE NOTES.

Brief Mention of Criminalities.

Before Alderman Moreland, Catharine Currenn charged Ellen Kirby with disorderly conduct, calling her names, &c. Warrant issued.

John Getti made information for assault and battery before Alderman McMasters, against Maria Mollinaria, alleging that she struck him with a bucket. A warrant was issued.

From an information made before Alderman Taylor, of the Ninth ward, it is quite evident that Margaret O'Conner, a widow, residing in the Ninth ward, became by far too intimate with Mr. Thomas Paradine, of the Tenth ward. The charge is fornic et cet. Thomas has been held for a hearing to-day.

Before Justice Heisel, of East Birmingham, Thomas Bennet, a farmer residing in Baldwin township, appeared and made information charging Edwin and Elizabeth Martin, and Annie Martin, with malicious mischief, alleging that the accused did go into his spring-house and make sad havoc with his butter, milk, cream, crocks, &c. Warrant issued.

Justice Barker, of South Pittsburgh, had the following cases:

Julius Neeper charged John Bettel with a breach of the peace, alleging that the accused came to his place of business and annoyed him by trying to pick a fight with him. Warrant issued.

Gotleib Kuder charged John Ferguson with assault and battery. The accused, it is alleged, attacked a son of the deponent, biting him on both arms, and otherwise abusing him. The case was amicably adjusted.

Kate Kelly complained that Sarah Dufay did come into her domicil in "Limerick" and raised a serious disturbance. For her badness in this instance, Sarah was sentenced to pay a fine of five dollars and the costs.

Wm. McDowell made an information against John Keefe for assault and battery, alleging that the accused did beat and abuse his (deponent's) son, aged eleven years. The suit was subsequently settled.

A youth named Charles Simcox, who was employed as a helper in a glass house in Monongahela borough, by a man named Jerry Liddoo, made a charge of assault and battery against his employer. Simcox, alleges that during a quarrel with Liddoo, the latter whipped him severely. The accused was held for trial.

Before Mayor Brush, Robert Kerr, Mark Edwards, and Patrick Breen, were brought up on a charge of disorderly conduct. It appears that the accused was engaged in a drunken brawl on Sixth street, when they were arrested by officer Sam. Bowden, and others. Five dollars and costs was the penalty imposed in each case, which Edwards and Breen paid, while Kerr, in default, went to jail for ten days.

Last evening Thomas Williams was very drunk (which is nothing strange) and while in this condition he fell against a window in Abels drug store on Fifth avenue, doing damage to the amount of ten dollars. He was arrested and locked-up for a hearing.

The Office of Joseph Maclean, Room No. 9, 90½ Fourth avenue, is a pleasant resort for the literary man. You can find books in every department of literature, and many rare works. Send for a catalogue. tf

THE VEXED QUESTION.

Thirteenth Ward Sovereigns in Council—Free Schools for White Children Only—All Men not Created Free and Equal—What They Did and What They Didn't—Some Startling Speeches—Disgraceful Proceedings.

The issue, by a member of the School Board of the Thirteenth ward, of a permit to a colored man, allowing him to place his children in the public schools of the ward, heretofore sacred to the pale face only, has been the cause of considerable dissatisfaction in that district. The feeling on the subject ran so high that several days since an indignation meeting was held at the school house at which no action was taken upon the subject, although much "chin-music" was indulged in. Another call was issued for a meeting, a few days ago, to assemble last night at the same place. At an early hour a motley representation of the district, embracing in color all shades between the complexion of the fairest Saxon and the ebon hue of the Ethiopian's skin, and in professions almost every occupation from a lawyer to a hod-carrier, began to assemble about the designated place.

"KNOCK AND IT SHALL BE OPENED,"

the scriptural injunction, was not fulfilled here last night, as all attempts to obtain an entrance to the building were futile for a time, no permit having been given by the Directors for that purpose. After much profane language had been used, however, the desired document was obtained and the crowd, as soon as the door had been opened rushed frantically into the building and were seated promiscuously on desks, benches and such other places as could be found.

The meeting then organized by calling Mr. Gormley to the chair and appointing Mr. Leland Secretary.

Upon the Chairman stating that the meeting was now ready for business,

Mr. George Euwart rose in his place, indignation stamped upon his manly brow, and desired to know by what authority the Directors had withheld the keys of the school until so late an hour.

Mr. John Megann called the gentleman to order. This meeting had nothing to do with that action of the Directors. This, gentlemen, is the

"IRREPRESSIBLE CONFLICT."

Yes, it is the "irrepressible conflict" that is still going on, and is a-going to go on. I repeat it, sir, let the gentleman be called to order.

The Chair stated that the remarks of Mr. Euwart were out of order, after which

Mr. Megann moved that every gentleman—yes, every gentleman that pays tax in the Thirteenth ward—that his children be admitted to this school.

Mr. Euwart amended it by adding "except colored children, for whom other suitable provision shall be made by the Directors."

Mr. Lowry, having a mind for the humorous side of the question desired to amend that amendment by admitting colored children. [Audible smiling.]

Mr. Euwart blandly and with the air of offended dignity, and having no desire to perpetrate a joke, moved that Mr. Lowry do now adjourn, if he wants to.

THE STILLNESS OF DEATH

pervaded the apartment as Mr. Megann arose and desired the President's permission that he might take the floor. This fillibustering, gentlemen, won't do. Let's treat the subject like men. I call for the original question.

The vote was now taken on the amendment and, upon a division, stood, 21 ayes; 19 nays. So the amendment was carried.

Mr. Lowry now requested the gentlemen who had put the matter through to suggest some method of carrying their action into effect.

Mr. Euwart offered a motion instructing the Board to procure a suitable room for the colored children and to give them the best teacher in this school. "Understand me gentlemen, I refer to Miss McCutcheon who is considered the highest—"

"Humbug! humbug!" This from Mr. Megann, who at first seemed highly pleased with the plan proposed by Mr. Euwart, but upon the mention of the lady's name sprang frantically to his feet. "We won't stand that; —none of that there—it won't go down." [Cries of "order," "dry up," &c.]

Mr. Atkinson rose to a point of order. By an oversight, he presumed, the Chair, after the passage of the amendment, had failed to put

THE ORIGINAL MOTION

This brought Mr. Megann out again excitedly—"That's so—your right. He slighted me, but I can stand it. The original motion—that's it.

Mr. Wm. Birch thought the motion of Mr. Euwart was unneeded. The law says—

Mr. Megann—Order sir—that's foreign. Give us the original motion.

Mr. Birch, however, gained the floor, and in a lengthy and prosy harangue, gave his views of the law, reading an extract from the act relating to Pittsburgh schools passed in 1869. The gentleman seemed to make the matter very clear to himself that law in its most general and comprehensive sense is law, and not being a lawyer he knew nothing about it, but the colored children, who were inferior, shouldn't be allowed in school with white children. The High—

Mr. Megann—Mr. Pres—

[Cries of "Order," "Sit down."]

The President—Order, order. Mr. Megann, no personalities.

Mr. Birch, continuing to quote from a pocket compendium of laws and statutes, was again interrupted by

Mr. Megann—The gentleman might as well

QUOTE FROM DEUTERONOMY;

he'll get into Ekclastics next.

Mr. Atkinson—Now, Mr. Chairman—

Mr. Birch—Mr. President, I'm not done yet. [Laughter.] This does not conflict with the fourteenth or fifteenth amendments. [Cries of "Read the amendments," "No, for Heaven's sake, don't read any more," &c.]

At this point, things began to get pretty badly mixed, all trying to talk at once and indulging in some of the most ungentlemanly and indecent personalities.

Mr. Birch proceeded to call attention to the African Methodist Church, making rather pointed insinuations. He was interrupted by cries of "Order," "Religion has nothing to do with the question."

Mr. Megann—The gentleman is entirely foreign to the original motion. This isn't a camp meeting.

Mr. Birch—No, nor it isn't a confessional, either.

Mr. Mahoney (colored)—Gentlemen, the Wylie street African Church never prospered till Mr. Birch quit prayin' in it. [Uproar and laughter.]

Mr. Atkinson very ably replied to the remarks of Mr. Birch, citing a later statute which provided for the establishment of schools for colored children, and when there were not sufficient to establish such schools, expressly stated that they should be admitted to the free schools. He also instanced the remarks of Professor Wickersham, at the High School dedication, who said that was that all children should be admitted, whether white or black.

He was interrupted by the entrance of Mr. Ed. Cassiday, who desired to see somebody that knew some law—"Where is he—show him to me"—and began to hurl a tirade of abusive epithets at the speaker which were effectively met by him, but which created intense feeling in the audience, some of whom threatened to put the interloper out, but better counsel prevailing, Mr. Cassiday was conducted to a seat and Mr. Atkinson allowed to finish his remarks.

Mr. Megann, gaining the floor with some difficulty, called for the original motion.

Mr. Lowry thought as the colored man was allowed to cast his vote for the school directors at the polls, that would imply that he should have something to do with the schools.

Mr. Megann thought the point well taken and as he was the mover of the original motion he believed he would call it up. [Great laughter.]

THE PRESIDENT MORALIZES.

Mr. Gormly (Mr. Lowry in the chair) said it seemed to him we were here arragning the Divine Creator who is no respector of persons. We are setting ourselves up as dictators to him. Woe be to us in the great and final day when we shall render our account and be judged according to the deeds done in the body.

Mr. Megann—I call for the question on my original motion.

Mr. Birch rose to explain. He explained, concluding by remarking that Robert Arthurs said, the other evening, that he would do his duty though the heavens should fall—and he done his duty with a vengeance. [A colored man—"Bully for Arthurs."] The law forbids the admission of colored children to the schools. [A voice—"You're a liar."]

Mr. Megann thought the original motion was now before the house.

Mr. Cassidy remarked to some extent. Our reporter failed to catch the thread of his discourse, and is unable to do justice to it in this article. It is therefore omitted.

The original motion introduced by Mr. Megann at the beginning of the meeting was now put and lost. Mr. Megann decided, the Chair being unwilling to do so, that the amendment previously passed fell with the original motion in this vote.

Mr. Euwart now moved that a committee of three be appointed to securing legal counsel at the expense of those present, and reporting at another meeting of the citizens of the ward. That part of the motion referring to the procurance of legal counsel being inserted upon the amendment of Mr. Cassiday.

The President—Gentlemen come to order, we are going to put another motion now.

Mr. Megann offered an amendment to appoint three colored men as the members of the committee.

Mr. Cassiday proposed to Mr. Euwart, that he don't accept any amendment making any variation from this motion as amended by him.

Mr. Megann withdrew his amendment and called for the original motion.

The motion was put and carried without dissent.

Mr. Cassiday—I consider myself entitled to a seat on that committee as I was the originator of the motion. I move the chair appoint the committee. Mr. Euwart do you second the motion? [Loud laughter.]

Mr. Euwart, as a lamb dumb before the shearers, opened not his mouth.

The Chair appointed as members of the committee, Messrs. Geo. Euwart, E. P. Jones and Wm. Birch.

Mr. Hunter said there was no use talking on the subject—he had consulted legal authority. There was fine and imprisonment for those who kept these children out. The law says they can't be kept out. [Applause.]

THE LION ROARETH.

Mr. Cassiday—It don't—it don't, sir! I tell you as a lawyer it don't. I think I ought to know. Where is the lawyer who will tell you so? Point him out. Who is he.

Mr. Hunter—Mr. Atkinson knows as much law as you do, I presume.

Mr. Cassiday—Mr. Atkinson will never make a lawyer as long as God lives.

Mr. Atkinson—I will never be a member of the same bar to which Mr. Cassiday has been attached to-night. [Cries of "good" and prolonged applause.]

At this point, Mr. Cassiday weakened and was escorted to a seat, after which the meeting passed off more quietly.

A collection was taken up for the janitor, the sum of fifteen cents being realized therefrom.

On motion, adjourned, to meet at the call of the committee.

Robbers Foiled.

Early yesterday morning, Mr. James R. Porter, insurance agent on Sampson street, Second ward, Allegheny, sprang from his bed, and seizing a sword which was in the room, hastened down stairs. At the foot of the stairs he was met by a man who had no business in the house. Mr. Porter delivered a blow at the intruder with his sword. The man threw up his hand to ward off the blow and received it on the hand. He then drew his pistol, presented it at Mr. Porter's breast and pulled the trigger. Fortunately the cap only snapped, and the pistol was not discharged. The fellow then fled, going out of the front door. The ladies, looking out of an upper window, saw two other men join him outside and the three hurry away as rapidly as possible. The ladies raised the cry of "Police!" "Robbers!" etc., but no police appeared and the would-be robbers made good their escape.

Early in the previous evening one of the ladies thought she saw the shadow of a man in the hall and was considerably startled. It seems that a little later, going to the pantry for apples, she must have fastened the burglar in that room, and opening the door he made the noise heard by Mr. Porter.

CRIMINAL COURT—JUDGE STERRETT.

In the case of William Dunker, tried for larceny of clothing, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

Thomas McCully, on a charge of being implicated in the robbery of the Farmers and Mechanics' Bank of East Birmingham, on the 10th of March, 1870, was placed upon trial. On the day stated, three men in a buggy drove up to the door of the bank; two of the men, Wm. McCully and Frank Moran, jumped out, went into the bank, shut and locked the door of a rear room where the Cashier was at the time, and then took from the counting table between eleven and twelve thousand dollars. This they swept into a basket they carried with them, and then jumping into the buggy, drove away. Being closely pursued, Wm. McCully and Moran alighted from the buggy and ran, carrying the money with them, to the hill above the town, where they were afterwards arrested. They were arraigned March 16, 1870, upon an indictment containing two counts, first, entering a building with felonious intent; and, second, larceny. They plead guilty and were sentenced, each, to a term of seven years in the Penitentiary. Thomas McCully escaped with the buggy, and eluded arrest until about three months ago. It is claimed on behalf of the defendant that he was drunk at the time, and that while taking a ride in the buggy, was discovered by his brother and Morgan, and pressed into their service, but that at the time he was ignorant of the robbery. The jury found the defendant not guilty on the first count, and guilty on the second. Sentence deferred.

John Lowri was arraigned on an indictment charging him with the crime of bigamy. It was shown that the defendant, who resided in East Birmingham, was, on the 24th of September, 1863, united in marriage with a certain Annie Burns, and that again, at McKeesport, on the 25th of February, 1871, he was married with one Susan Stewart, the said Annie Burns being at that time in full life and being. Geo. Stewart appeared as prosecutor. The jury found the defendant guilty, and he was sentenced to pay the costs and a fine of fifty dollars, and to undergo an imprisonment in the Work House for the term of eighteen months.

Celia Webster was tried for larceny by bailee. Henry Pollett, the prosecutor, testified that the defendant did take into her possession two decanters valued at four dollars each, one pair of vases, five dollars each, and a pair of lace curtains, goods belonging to said prosecutor. The jury found a verdict of not guilty.

George Groul, proprietor of a slaughter house in East Birmingham, was arraigned upon a indictment charging him with maintaining a nuisance. The case was not concluded.

DOWN THE ROAD.

Railway Accommodation an Incentive to Settlement.

No road in the country is better or more ably managed than the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Railroad, nor does any endeavor more strenuously to afford all possible accommodations to way and through travelers. Its coaches are first-class, its officials presiding over them careful, courteous and accommodating, its tracks as smooth, orderly and well kept as any in the land, and its time, while not reckless, is all in point of rapidity that could be desired. It is for these reasons that many of our citizens have selected suburban sites and erected cosy and palatial residences along the Ohio River, a considerable distance away from the city. There are no good reasons why the beautiful valleys and plains, the green carpeted knobs that break upon the view as we pass Haysville, where the country, pierced by the tracks breaks into a river-plain admirably adapted for residences, should not be closely built up and studded with charming and inviting villages. From Haysville to Rochester there are most beautiful places for residences on the line of the road, and we marvel that, instead of going up the sister rivers or out into the high-lands and dry-lands of the city, more merchants and mechanics do not locate their homes on the beautiful Ohio which is so closely hugged by the Cleveland and Fort Wayne roads. The great break, however in these lands, is the farm of the Economites and their town. This good but rapidly passing away community of religionists, have three miles and a half along the road of the most beautiful land in Pennsylvania, and so long as one of their number lasts, the more than three thousands smiling acres they own will never be offered for sale. This side, however, from the picturesque station of Fair Oaks, where the elegant country seats of the Messrs. [illegible] Macrum, Mrs. Gen. Alex. Hays, Major G. W. Murphy and others sit proudly to break the monotony of green fields fringed with noble forests, back to Haysville, and on the other side beyond the quaint and thrifty village of Economy there are many magnificent sites for rural homes, which, perhaps, will soon be appreciated by those fleeing from the heat and dust of the crowded city. There is, however, some objection made to going down below Sewickley for residences on the ground that not enough train accommodations are afforded—too much time being consumed in waiting for particular trains that only stop at long intervals. This, of course, will be remedied when the settlements are made; but the fact that the people now living below Sewickley are inconvenienced for want of accommodation trains as far as Fair Oaks, operates against parties making such settlements, inasmuch as they refuse to realize that time will bring a change. We believe if the railroad company officials would increase the accommodation facilities or extend them to points further down the road that in a short time they would be handsomely remunerated in an increase of passengers from greater distances and of course at higher rates, when merchants and mechanics locate their homes in the inviting places to which we have referred. Our cities have both enlarged their boundaries far out upon nearly all the railroads centering in them, and villages have sprung up all about us as if in a night time, and not many years will pass away until the line of the Fort Wayne Road will boast of the prettiest neighborhoods in this section of country.

Dressing.

To dress a man comfortably is one thing; to dress him fashionably another, and to combine the two, a desideratum which can only be obtained at the house of Wm. Hespenheide & Co., No. 50 Sixth street. This firm has always been most happy in their selection of goods, and in the make-up of stylish suits for business or dress; in this respect they challenge comparison. This should not either be overlooked that their prices are reasonable and suited to the pockets of all, be they rich or poor. Let all who want good clothing go Hespenhide's.

RELIEVING THE SUFFERERS.

Chicago and Michigan—Aid for Both from Pittsburgh—The Work in the City Yesterday.

The Trustees of the Chicago Fund held a meeting yesterday morning, but transacted no business of special note outside of the usual routine.

THE LADIES

are still working energetically. Yesterday, in addition to the contributions heretofore reported, they received from Miss Lucy Balkam, of Swissvale, eleven yards of waterproof cloth, nine yards of flannel, and a barrel of good clothing. Mr. F. H. Eaton contributed a large lot of valuable trimmings, &c., and Mr. Cree and the other members of the Christian Association are thanked most cordially for the almost constant help which they give in the good work.

We are instructed to state that the Ladies' Committee have determined to extend their aid to all the western districts suffering from fire. Heretofore aid has been rendered to Chicago almost exclusively. Now, while greatest efforts will be directed to the amelioration of the condition of the sufferers in Michigan and Wisconsin; and the work will be continued as long as the necessity exists. A large amount of clothing etc., is already prepared to be sent to points of distribution for Wisconsin and Michigan, and will be sent away as soon as necessary arrangements have been made.

They contemplate starting an "Employment Bureau" in connection with the Pittsburgh Supply Depot in Chicago.

Their object in this is to assist those who are able to find employment, and see that the supplies sent are not appropriated by undeserving parties who will not work so long as they can be fed in idleness. To see that none who are deserving suffer, and that none who can get work to do shall eat the bread of indolence.

If this plan is carried out it is possible a committee of Ladies will be sent on to Chicago to co-operate with the gentleman's committee now there.

THE NEW STEAMBOAT LAW.

Return of the Pittsburgh Committee—Their Trip Unsuccessful—No Relief but from Congress.

We have heretofore referred to the new steamboat law which meets with so much opposition from steamboatmen and to the fact that a committee had been appointed in behalf of Pittsburgh steamboatmen to wait upon the Inspectors—now in annual session in Washington—to secure if possible some relief. That committee, after spending a week in Washington, returned home yesterday morning with a report that no relief could be obtained except from Congress.

They met in Washington similar committees from New York, Cincinnati, Milwaukee, and all the leading cities of the Union interested in the navigation of our rivers or lakes by steamers, and each delegation intent upon the same object. The Inspectors heard and even acknowledged the justness of their complaints, but said the law must be enforced—they having no discretion. The Secretary of the Treasury was then appealed to, but he (contrary to what had been supposed) also had no authority, and said no relief could be had except from Congress.

The steamboatmen then made a new movement and submitted the question whether the boats having license could not run under them until the licenses expired. The Inspectors thought they could, but the Secretary was of the opinion that as soon as the new law went into effect, that it practically revoked all the old licenses and new ones must be taken out. The question, however, was submitted to the Attorney General for his opinion, which had not been rendered when the Pittsburgh Committee left Washington.

The steamboatmen are strongly aroused in the matter and propose to bring a presure upon Congress at its next session which cannot be resisted. The Inspectors and the Secretary it is said will faovr a new and more equitable law, and the owners of boats all over the country will press the demand. They claim that the new law only entails expense without increasing the safety, on the boats and that to make the changes proposed, steamboat interests in the Union would be taxed fully [illegible] millions of dollars.

Pittsburgh is especially interested, in that the law applies to every boat propelled by steam, and no boat is allowed to carry more than one hundred pounds of steam for work. This would render practically useless our tugboats, as it would be impossible for any boat to handle a "tow" with that small power. It is within the limits to say that our steamboatmen were exasperated when they learned the result of the Washington conference, and several of our heaviest coal shippers expressed themselves as practically "closed up" in business with such a law in force.

It is possible, however, that Congress, when the matter is properly explained, will not be long in making a change.

Prince Albert.

A beautiful quality of Black Alpaca, imported by a leading Philadelphia house, and bearing the above name, is worthy the attention of our lady readers, and all who purchase this desirable and cheap fabric for dresses and suits. They have already become widely popular in the East, and we believe them superior to any other make of Alpaca. The main point of excellence is their beautiful shade and texture, and, being finished so perfectly on both sides, they admit of being turned after long service, without loss of color or freshness. Our attention was drawn to these goods at Messrs. J. B. HEARD & Co's., who are introducing them in this market. We were shown very pretty qualities at thirty to fifty cents. WFS.

"MERRY AS A MARRIAGE BELL."

A "Tin Wedding" Celebration—Festive Hours at an Allegheny Mansion—Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Blair Congratulated—The End of an Hymeneal Decade.

When two people have traveled happily together in the ways of matrimony for a decade of years, along a pathway illumined by connubial sunshine, while prosperity has smiled upon them and friends have gathered around them, it seems a pretty and peculiarly fitting ceremony which makes of the tenth hymenial anniversary a special celebration. And thus these happy events—"tin weddings" they are called—with all their associations of pleasant restrospect and of fraternal greetings—have come to be regarded as among the most enjoyable of festivities—alike enjoyable by the happy twain in whose honor they are held and by the friends who then gather to express friendship's felicitations.

One of these commemorative occasions, which in the course of their connubial career, fell to the lot of our friends Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Blair, of Allegheny was celebrated on Monday evening, at their residence, No. 289 Western avenue, Allegheny. Ten years ago the twain became victims to Hymen's gentle power; in the years that have since followed, fortune especially favored them with happiness, health, prosperity and friends, and the occurrence of the "Tin Wedding" was but a new proof of the wisdom of their partnership, and the occasion for the most pleasant auguries for the future.

The celebration was not so much an idea of the host and hostess as of their innumerable friends, who had no sooner learned of the approach of the happy than they began to make preparations for its proper commemoration. No formal invitations were issued, but all friends felt free to participate, and hence when the appointed evening came there were in attendance fully three hundred people, the old and the young, the gay and the grave—but all intent upon making the hours pass pleasantly, and aid in the festivities in honor of their "mutual friends." All came bearing their gifts with them, so numerous that fully half a room was taken up for the pile; in many cases they were valuable, much beyond what would have been supposed could have been encompassed in any article of tin. The presents seemed to have been generally selected with taste; many were beautiful, others more useful and some irresistibly proclaimed the irrepressible spirit of the more humorous of the attendants. Nothing seemed to have been forgotten, however—from a nutmeg grater to a coal scuttle—all were in the assortment, which was remarkable for beauty, utility and value.

The guests began to make their appearance about eight o'clock and for over an hour the throng continued until the house was filled in every apartment throughout. No time was lost in formalities and as they came, each guest was received and welcomed, and then mingled in the company in which the true spirit of sociability seemed to thoroughly prevail. An hour or so was thus spent in friendly greetings, when some of the more enthusiastic devotees of terpsichore managed to secure sufficient room in one of the apartments to inaugurate the music and the dancing and soon, with Professor John T. Irwin at the violin and Mr. Charles Jaynes at the piano, "all went merry as a marriage bell." Those who could not join at once in the tripping enjoyed the entertainment afforded by conversation and vocal music, of which there was a plentiful supply in the other part of the house, where quartettes, and duets, and "songs for one" prevailed. These pleasant exercises were all in full blow, when suddenly about midnight the call for supper came, and it was heeded with a cheerful alacrity. The highest encomiums upon the skill of the hostess as a caterer was the elegant repast which she alone prepared, and which greeted the company who were at first loth to break the charm, but afterward lingered around the festal board lovingly—apparently just as loth to leave.

During the evening the esteemed couple were the recipients of many hearty and sincere congratulations upon the good fortune which had attended them, and many and thoroughly cordial—as they were eminently deserved—were the wishes expressed that as in the past, so in the future, they might have continued sunshine, prosperity, and joy.

After supper the dancing and music were resumed and kept up during the remainder of the "wedding," except at intervals when vocal music and conversation had sway. The closing hours wore rapidly away and almost before they were aware and certainly before any were desirous of leaving, the guests were warned by the approach of the "wee sma' hours" that the hour of adjournment was at hand. They thus were called upon to separate shortly after two o'clock after spending—if the oft repeated expression of each be a criterion—the most enjoyable of evening's and one which will ever be surrounded with the most happy memories.

BREVITIES.

There was a false alarm of fire from Box 76 yesterday afternoon.

A slight fire occurred in the cellar of T. J. Leacock's tobacco store, 287 Federal street, Allegheny, night before night.

Chicago used to "stove" herself up. Now we are doing that for her. Yesterday a fourth car load of stoves left for that city.

Coroner West held an inquest yesterday morning on the body of John S. Campbell, who was killed at the Union depot. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

The lady managers of the Home Mission Society will have a tea meeting in Liberty Street M. E. Church, on Thursday evening next. A general invitation is extended.

In referring to the noble offering made by the orphan children of the Episcopal Church Home to the Chicago Relief Fund, the types misprinted the name of their good teacher, which should have read Mrs. J. B. Lynne.

Two boys of about sixteen years of age named John Farran and J. Rice are missing. When last seen they were in a skiff on the Youthiogheny river, near McKeesport. Any information concerning them will be thankfully received at No. 155 Smithfield street.

Mr. James Sherran, opposite Marshall's foundry, on Diamond street, has done good work towards many distressed men from Chicago, boarding, lodging and replenishing their purses, and sending them on the r way rejoicing. Such unostentatious charity is worthy of note.

Yesterday morning a workman in Oliver & Phillips' rolling mill, near Woods' Run, met with a very painful accident. He was pushing a car loaded with iron, when he missed his footing and fell some twenty feet, injuring himself very badly, fracturing his arm, and it is feared hurting him internally. Dr. W. H. Frank is attending him.

Fred. E. Watson, Esq., formerly connected with the press of this city, afterwards one of the leading journalists of New York city and lastly a merchant of Chicago, paid us a call yesterday. He was very fortunate, he says, as he came out of with his life, an old suit of clothing, a jack-knife and a ten penny nail—all that was left him by the fire. He is looking up the McKeesport Opera Troupe to give a series of concerts, but alas! during his absence the members of that combination have nearly all passed away. Fred. is warmly welcomed by his newspaporial friends of this city.

Amusements.

Pittsburgh Opera House.—"Saratoga" was again presented last evening, to a fine audience, and was received with every demonstration of intense delight. This comedy is a brilliant production, picturing vividly to the mind many of the foibles and follies of "society." The leading character, Mr. Bob Sackett, is taken by Mr. Lawrence Barrett, who plays the part admirably. The support accorded him by the company is excellent. This evening the piece will be repeated.

A grand matinee for the benefit of the Chicago sufferers will be given this afternoon, when "Saratoga" will be presented, Mr. Barrett having kindly volunteered his services for the occasion.

Fifth Avenue Opera House.—The exciting sensational drama, "Neck and Neck," with the meritorious young actor, Mr. E. T. Stenson, sustaining the principal character, was again produced last evening to a well filled house. The play has been put upon the stage in a style that reflects great credit upon the management. The scenery and stage appointments are all admirably gotten up, and the play, we venture to say, has rarely been produced in a manner to equal its present representation. "Neck and Neck" this evening.

This afternoon will be given a grand matinee for the benefit of the Chicago sufferers, for which occasion Mr. Stetson volunteers his services and drama. The stock company, orchestra, and other attaches have also volunteered. "Neck and Neck" will be the attraction.

Library Hall.—Bayard Taylor, the traveler, the poet, the scholar and clear thinker will deliver his new lecture entitled "Schiller," Germany's great literary idol, on next Wednesday evening, at Library Hall. This will be a most auspicious commencement of the lecture season of 1871-2, and we dare to predict that the very high character, superior mental attainments and traveling experience and knowledge acquired therefrom will cause the hall to be filled to overflowing by the intellectual and educated masses of the community. No reserved seats. Tickets may be obtained at Blume's Music Store on Fifth avenue, or at the hall.

Minstrels.—At Masonic Hall this evening, and positively for only three nights succeeding, the now famous Unsworth Minstrels, justly styled "the Master Band of America," will appear for the first time in our city. This company is made up of twenty-five talented artists, each one of whom is a whole host in himself, and when all are joined in efforts to entertain they make an unapproachable troupe—one that certainly has no equal in the world. This is speaking in strong terms, but the whole press of the country assumes that we cannot be too extravagant in our laudations of a combination that contains so much real talent and genuine mert. The programme for to-night is brilliant and spicy, embracing burlesque opera, old ballads, instrumental solos, operatic gems and characteristic dances. All who want to spend a pleasant night should put in an appearance, for he must be a cynic indeed, who would not laugh and grow merry while in attendance at the performances of the Unsworth Minstrels and Burlesque Opera Troupe.

The Escaped Nun—Edith O'Gorman, lectures to women only, at Lafayette Hall to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock. We cannot surmise what the nature of her lecture will be, but must content ourselves by thinking that she will tell what the stronger sex may afterwards learn from their wives who never can keep secrets. W. G. Dunseath, the well known Fifth avenue jeweler is agent for the sale of tickets. On Thursday evening the "Escaped Nun" delivers her last lecture in this city at Library Hall.

Remember the grand amateur concert at the Seventeenth ward school house on Saturday evening next, for the benefit of the Chicago Relief Fund.

The amusement going public are rejoiced to learn that Miss Dargon opens a star engagement at the Fifth Avenue Opera House on Monday evening next. Miss Dargon was completely burned out in Chicago, losing her entire wardrobe. This alone would crowd the house every night, but when we all remember how this worthy and noble young lady has worked her way up so that she is now recognized as one of the foremost of Amerìean stars, we know that our citizens will give her such a wardrobe as will make her heart glad, and convince her and her friends that Pittsburghers are judges of a worthy actress.

THE STOCK.

An examination of the items of stock reported as existing on the first of October, in comparison with the list for the first of September, shows that a very large decrease in the total stock has taken place; an aggregate so large that it is evident a decline of very considerable dimensions has occurred, even if our largest estimates of previous over and present under estimates are correct.

That such a movement was in progress was made evident during the month by the constantly increasing scarcity of "spot" oil.

The demands for export and consumption were plainly in excess of the daily production, the amount already required to meet the former being 9 per cent. in excess of that for last year to same date.

Though the total stock shows the very large decrease of 55,614 barrels, the stock at the wells on the contrary shows an increase of 6,000 barrels, while the other lines of stock have each been depreciated in very considerable amounts, much the larger portions going out of the iron tanks or storage stocks, which are reported as having been depleted to the extent of 44,050 barrels; the refiners have lessened their stocks by upwards of 9,000 barrels, a fact due to a considerable extent to the closing of several of the refineries on account of the low price of refined oil as compared with crude. The pipe companies yet carry heavy stocks, an aggregate of nearly 127,000 barrels, a decrease from their amount the month before of 8,482 barrels.

NEW DEVELOPMENTS.

There are 438 new wells going down.

That the business of Petroleum mining continues to attract a large amount of capital, or at least to secure to itself much of that produced by the wells already in operation, the large and constantly increasing number of wells being drilled give ample evidence. The business, however, is becoming evidently less profitable, for the number of producing wells increases far more rapidly than the production.

We now show specific reports from 4,403 producing wells, an increase of 107 over the number at the close of August, or one well for every seven hours of the entire month, without taking into account the "dry holes" that have been drilled, of which there were not less than 30 for the month.

The localities where active operations are being conducted are numerous; Church Run is still on the list, but not in the front rank as formerly, but 18 wells now being drilled, while there were 25 at the close of August.

Two wells, each yielding steadily 40 barrels daily having been secured at Enterprise, greatly increased activity prevails thereabouts, and fifteen drills are already at work.

The fine strike on the Mill farm has put new life into the operations at that point, and we note five wells in progress.

Drilling in the vicinity of Pithole is continued, a dozen wells are in progress, and the production at that point is well sustained.

Twenty five wells are reported in the Hickory district as compared with fifteen a month ago and we shall no doubt hear of an increased production in that vicinity very soon; the Tidioute district will also be very likely to show a similar result from the sixteen wells in progress there.

Much is being done at East Sandy, nineteen wells being drilled, and the successes being well proportioned to the failures we look for a considerable increase from there within sixty days.

Bredinsburg is also attracting a good deal of attention; and the increasing production will no doubt be continued.

On both sides of the river at Foster very active operations are in progress, and a largely increased yield will doubtless be the result.

In no one district, however, have we so great a show of development as at Parkers. The field is sure is great but at the points of greatest activity very rapid work is being done. Of the 180 wells in progress, 30 are in the vicinity of Petersburg, 27 on the Black farm, 18 on the Duchess, 25 on the Milford, and 30 on Bear Creek and the territory south and west of it. The territory contains a few large wells, three or four averaging 85 barrels per day for the month; but by far the greater number yield less than five barrels per day each.

THE MARKETS.

There was less of excitement in regard to the price of oil during the month under review than before for a long time. Before the 10th, and while the feeling of uncertainty existed in regard to the course of production in August, the prices were gradually borne downward. After the reports had been published it became evident that less oil was being produced or was likely to be during the year, than would supply the demands for export and consumption, and that in consequence a reduction in the stocks must occur. This state of affairs was an argument in favor of future high prices, which the result of the month's operations shows to have been quite generally believed; holders by degrees increased their demands, the buyer reluctantly acceding, but as our table of shipments shows, purchasing largely. This state of affairs continued till near the close of the month, when with the approach of the close of the third quarter the market became very quiet and showed a slight disposition to decline.

The average price on the upper road was $4.55 9, an increase of over the average for August of 21 cents, placing it at almost the same figure as for July, and higher than that of any month of the year except July and June.

The Lower Road shows a gain of less than seven cents, about one-third of that on the upper, the average being $4.74 8. This change in the proportions of the Upper and Lower Road prices leaves a difference between the two of 17.7 cents, or just about the amount due to the different rates of freight, and was brought about by the action of the Pipe Companies in refusing to take high gravity oil; this caused a decided improvement in the quality of Upper Road oil, and a consequent increase.

At Oil City the range was from $4.80 to $5.10 with a movement corresponding fairly to that along the Creek, and an average about twenty cents higher than on the Lower Road.

THE HERALD'S REPORT.

The Herald places the average daily production at 17,048 bbls, a decrease from August of 1,113 bbls, and shows a decrease of 46,209 bbls in the stock held.
